Mayor Cauffield Authorizes Sale in Attempt to "Rid City of Bootleggers Who Have Been Selling Poisonous Liquor at Fabulous Prices"

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 19.—Brewers and saloon keepers of Johnstown have been notified by Mayor Cauffield that they may "manufacture and sell good beer" and if they sell "poor beer" they will be arrested. The mayor said he took the step to see if he could not "rid the city of bootleggers who have been selling poisonous liquor at fabulous prices."

Man Found on Lawrence Boulevard by Police Officer is at Hospital

A man, said to be Oldroyd Crossin, about 55 years old, of Lowell road, Duxbury, is in St. John's hospital today in a rather serious condition as the result of undetermined injuries, believed to have been received some time last night on the Lawrence road. Shortly before midnight Officer Michael Ryne of the Lowell police force, who is on vacation, was driving from Lawrence, when just north of Merrimack park he came upon an unconscious form in the road. The man proved to be suffering from some kind of a heavy blow and he was

TO PASS TARIFF BILL TODAY

Senate to End Its Four Months' Fight Late This Afternoon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The senate will end its four months' tariff fight late today with the passage of the administration bill by an overwhelming majority.

With the absence of two republican senators generally credited as in opposition, it was expected that not to exceed three votes would be cast against the bill on the majority side. The general belief was that these would be offset by at least that many votes in support of the democratic side.

CONLEY SAYS PEACHES NOT UP TO SNUFF

Martin F. Conley, superintendent of the Chelmsford Street hospital, has 10 cases of canned peaches at the hospital that he is trying to get rid of for the reason that he alleges they are not up to standard. He has appealed to Purchasing Agent Foye to have them removed. "I have ordered them out of there more than once since they were delivered," said Mr. Foye, "but for some reason or other they do not seem to be moved. The mayor's secretary says they will be all right. I don't know what more I can do about it." "I will say this, though, the peaches were delivered at the hospital without an order from me," added the purchasing agent. Mr. Conley also has several bags of red beans, Pinto beans, at the hospital that he says he did not order and that he has no use for. Mr. Foye says he did not order them and therefore cannot order them to be taken out. There is no regulation in the purchasing agent's office covering them.

JEWELRY STORE ROBBED

Window Broken and Rings Stolen From Central Street Jewelry Store

The J. C. Lyle jewelry store at 181 Central street, was robbed of approximately $200 worth of solid gold rings some time this morning, according to a report made to the police by the proprietor. The robbery was effected by breaking one of the display windows facing on Central street, through which the rings were evidently snatched. The company has offered a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons committing the alleged robbery.

According to what the police learned from the owner of the store, some instrument, such as an iron bar, was used to break the glass. Only a small hole was made, just large enough to admit a person's hand. One of the clerks of the store said that a man who learned about the robbery had come into the store this morning and reported that when he walked by the store at 7:15 o'clock, he did not notice the broken glass. He said that he stopped and set his watch and stood right in front of the window that was later reported broken.

Secretary of New Haven System Federation Appeals to Governor Cox

Asks Reward for Conviction of R. R. Managements for Violation of Federal Law

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Governor Cox, who recently offered a reward of $1000 for evidence leading to the conviction of persons guilty of violence against railroads or their employees, has been requested by Robert Henderson, secretary of the New Haven System Federation, to offer a similar reward "for evidence which will lead to the conviction of railroad managements for violation of any federal law, especially the federal inspection law, which applies to cars and locomotives."

Henderson, in a letter to the governor, said the striking shopmen felt that the reward as offered should cover "all violations of the laws of the state and nation."

NO BARGAIN IN BRITISH ADMIRALTY COAL

It has now developed that British Admiralty coal cannot be bought by the city at a price very much below figures quoted by local dealers.

Yesterday Mayor Brown received a letter from the Atlantic International Corp., of Boston, offering Hull, England, bituminous coal in 5000 to 6000-ton lots at a price per ton at Boston of $9.68—a ton to weigh 2210 pounds. This was price at Boston, however. The freight rate to Lowell would be $1.62 per ton and hauling from the cars in this city would cost approximately $1 more. This would raise the price to $12.30, but inasmuch as long tons are specified, one ton extra would be secured in every 10 tons delivered. One-tenth of the price per ton would be substantially 50 cents. Subtract this from $12.30 and the price is established at $11.31.

The mayor does not look with as much favor on the proposal as he did yesterday.

MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM

Trustees Announce Rental Charges for the Main Hall and Liberty Hall

With a large number of applications for the use of the new building already at hand, the Memorial Auditorium trustees announce the following rental charges for the main hall and Liberty hall. The main auditorium will rent for $275 an evening, or between the hour of 6 p. m. and midnight. For every hour after midnight there will be a charge of $20. The charge for afternoon use, from 12 noon, until 6 p. m., has been fixed at $125, while for mornings, the price will be $50. Liberty hall may be rented for $65 an evening, with $6 per hour charge after that time; afternoons, $30, and mornings, $20.

While these prices have been decided upon by the trustees, they are more or less tentative and subject to change if conditions warrant. Applications for the use of either hall should be made to the board of trustees. The total amount of rental fee must be deposited with the city treasurer three days before the event in question is to take place. The treasurer will issue a voucher on payment of the money, said voucher to be presented to the custodian of the building, who will give a receipt for the money paid the treasurer.

MAYOR REPUDIATES PURCHASING AGENT'S ORDER FOR AUTOS

Eddie Foye's Last Day at City Hall and He Went Out in a "Blaze of Glory"—Purchasing Agent Doesn't Have to Consult Mayor, Says Eddie

This was Eddie Foye's last day at city hall as purchasing agent, for on Monday, Edward J. Donnelly, already qualified for the job, will take over the office. Eddie left the city service this noon to the accompaniment of one of the most vivid displays of municipal pyrotechnics that has been touched off within the big stone building this year. He made his departure memorable, particularly for Hon. George H. Brown, mayor. It all came about over the giving of an order for two runabouts for district chiefs of the fire department. Bids were opened last Monday and yesterday morning Purchasing Agent Foye, still in office for the reason that his successor at that time had not qualified before the city clerk, placed an order for the two machines with the

Ingram More a Painter Than Director of "Zenda" Film

RAMON SAMANAGOS, now called Ramon Navarro, juvenile lead in "The Prisoner of Zenda."

ALICE TERRY, heroine of "The Prisoner of Zenda" and wife of the director, Rex Ingram.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—When Rex Ingram produced "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" he was considered by the public and by himself as a motion picture director.

That film was of such artistic merit that a leading college conferred an honorary degree of art on him. That may have some bearing on the manner in which he has transposed "The Prisoner of Zenda" to the screen.

In this new film the drama of the story has been submerged by pictorial elaboration. It is a beautiful film. Many scenes are so composed that they appear like old masters or delicate tapestries. Lighting effects make the characters appear life-like.

However, Anthony Hope's novel from which the picture story was taken dealt with the force of destiny that put within one man's hands the power to usurp the throne of another and have for his queen a regal maiden with whom he had fallen in love.

The man's sense of honor made him forego the throne. The girl's sense of honor, her responsibility to the people of her sovereignty, compelled her to refuse to leave with the man she loved.

Brother plotting the death of brother, the plot exposed by a woman scorned and other incidents of equal dramatic burden led up to the climax of the story.

With this material to work with it was to be expected that Ingram would achieve a picture of intense dramatic appeal.

However, the stressing of the pictorial element has robbed the film of enduring impression. The pretty pictures detract from the story.

Unlike "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," this film will be forgotten shortly after the spectator leaves the theatre.

Chief interest in "The Prisoner of Zenda," aside from the story itself, centers in the introduction of Ramon Samanagos as a screen actor. Ingram has proclaimed him another Valentino.

Samanagos' features are more regular than those of Valentino. He is a bit more sleek, more polished. Indeed, he is almost oily.

One imagines he has a sweetly palm. He may be high and far in the movies, thanks to the adoration of the flapper contingent, but Samanagos will never be another Valentino.

Valentino's success lies in his personality. It has a definite reaction on the film spectator. One is either very much for him or very much against him. One is always interested in him. As long as he acts without restraint, Valentino will be an outstanding figure of the films.

Samanagos has taken the film name of Ramon Navarro. Stories on his ancestry are now due if he is to become a star. The better the story, the quicker a star. That seems to be the pattern that lifts ordinary mortals to the heights of film stardom.

Alan Dwan, who has just completed direction of "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," has been engaged to direct Valentino in "The Spanish Cavalier."

The script will be written by June Mathis who prepared "The Four Horsemen" and "Blood and Sand" for the screen.

The new film is an adaptation of "Don Cesar de Bazan," Nita Naldi, who has made one of the biggest hits of the season as Dona Sol in "Blood and Sand," will have the leading feminine role.

Walter Hiers, the fat comedian, proposed and was accepted by telegraph. He hopped a train for Syracuse, N. Y., to put an engagement ring on the finger of Miss Adah McWilliams, daughter of a shoe manufacturer.

Then he hopped a train back to Hollywood. Who'd a thought that Walter would hop as fast as that?

English authorities have lifted the ban against Ann Forest, American actress, appearing in "If Winter Comes," being produced in England.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND THEATRE

"Come On Over," a New Goldwyn Special, First Three Days of the Week—Sunday Concert Includes Vaudeville

The promised policy of "bigger and better pictures" for the patrons of The Strand by Manager Samuel Morgan is beginning to reflect itself in no uncertain way these days. A glance over the semi-weekly programs announced during the recent past, and a glimpse at the bookings for the immediate future indicates more forcibly than words can express that the management is realizing the assurance given a short time ago that the managers hereabouts would have the opportunity of enjoying the very best that the screen world has to offer. Just watch the newspaper announcements and judge for yourself. It will be worth while to follow, closely, the offerings scheduled for presentation at The Strand in the early fall and winter months.

For next week beginning on Monday afternoon and continuing Tuesday and Wednesday, "Come On Over," a new Goldwyn special, with Colleen Moore starring, will be shown. This is a Rupert Hughes creation and it is said to be among the best efforts. It's a companion piece to "Scratch My Back," and its characters are as human and companionable as those in the other masterpiece, "The Old Nest." Its comedy is wholesome and persuasive and infectious and through its course flows a vein of Irish wit that only Mr.

ANOTHER JOB FOR THE "MAJOR"

Hughes has been able to bring to the screen in a delightful freshness and breeziness of a sunrise over one of Ireland's greenest hills. The story starts in Ireland but soon jumps to New York and deals with the romance of Shane, who leaves his sweetheart, Moyra, behind when he seeks his fortune in the new world.

When they meet in New York, after three years, their love affair runs anything but smoothly until a dancing contest is staged. The dance music gets into their blood and their feet lead them together in a dance and once in each other's arms, everything is straightened out. Florence Drew, Mary Warren, Kathleen O'Connor, Monti Collins, J. Farrell MacDonald, James Marcus and others are seen in the supporting cast.

Hoot Gibson in "Step On It," is to be the other first-of-the-week offering. The mere mention of Gibson's name means enjoyable action and thrills, and "Step On It" is no exception to the rule. Mystery, romance, typically western action and a punch of a plot from the pen of Courtney Ryley Cooper combine in making this picture a just what it is—a genuine worth-while offering. The locale is laid in "The Land of the Lost," a section of unmapped territory in the state of Colorado, a paradise for horse and cattle thieves. We will tell no more of the story except to give the assurance that it's "the kind that gets you."

A Jimmy Aubrey comedy, "The Chicken Parade," will be an added feature, and the Weekly and musical numbers will help round out a 100 percent program.

For the last three days of the week the feature picture will be "The Man With Two Mothers," in which Mary Alden, who played the mother in "The Old Nest," Cullen Landis and Sylvia Breamer will be featured. It's an Irish-American story by Alice Duer Miller, an American story by Alice Duer Miller, an American story by Alice Duer Miller.

Others of the cast are also capable and superior-grade actors and actresses. Viola Dana in the role of millionaire orphan promises to make many new friends and admirers in her new comedy drama "Seeing Is Believing," which will be shown during the week-end. Miss Dana, as Sylvia Breamer, and her aunt's suitor, are obliged to pose as married when on their way back to the city they are forced to put up at a small hotel. The compromising situation is observed by a young man, a friend of the family and when he promises to safeguard her secret, she endeavors to involve him in an equally compromising position. How her efforts lead her to the brink of bitter and serious disappointment and finally to success, is best told by the picture itself. See it. Don't forget that it's always cool and comfortable at The Strand. You never find it uncomfortably warm at this playhouse.

For Sunday's concert the management will offer the only vaudeville in town and an entire change of pictures, with Lucy Cotton in "Whispering Shadows" as the feature.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Thomas Meighan and Marion Davies in Latest Vehicles Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Manager Nelson has arranged two big features of more than ordinary interest for the first part of the week at the Merrimack Square Theatre. Lowell's cool and comfortable amusement house. The leading attractions will be "If You Believe It, It's So," starring Thomas Meighan, and "The Young Diana," with Marion Davies.

For Sunday there will be the usual excellent program of up-to-the-minute features.

Thomas Meighan in a new Paramount picture always is a matter of importance to movie lovers. Mr. Meighan is one of the most popular stars of the screen and his recent appearances have increased his popularity immensely. The story of "If You Believe It, It's So," is a most gripping one. Chick Harris, a crook, robs Ezra Wood, an aged countryman, but on hearing his victim's story of how he and his wife had worked for years to pay off the mortgage on their home, repents and restores their money. He determines to reform and becomes a real estate agent.

He meets Alvin Morley, at whose house he lives and falls in love with her. Sky Blue, a counterfeiter, appears in the guise of a ministerial reformer and raises a large sum of money to which Alvin has contributed all he owns. The money is to go presumably toward the erection of an orphanage. Chick is named treasurer of the fund and frustrates Sky Blue's design to ream with the money. Sky Blue tells the story of his past to Alvin and the result is a happy ending to a most interesting story. Mr. Meighan is supported by a capable cast.

The story of "The Young Diana," the second feature for the first half of the week, deals with a young woman whose perfunctory father seeks to marry her into the British nobility. She loves Richard Cleve, a sailor, and Dr. Dimitrius, a scientist, falls in love with her. By a strange combination of circumstances Diana comes to believe that her sweetheart has been false to her by eloping with Lady Anne, and she swears. Twenty years later she is seen as a spinster, and her life embittered she wishes to desert his wife for her, but she spurns him. Dimitrius, too, wishes to marry her. Diana falls into a faint. Then she awakens, learns she has been deceiving and is still young and lovely without the need of rejuvenation. All is explained, and the picture fades out with the wedding of Diana and Cleve.

A comedy, starring Johnny Hines, and the latest International News will complete the bill. For Thursday, Friday and Saturday the features will be "Penrod," with "Preckles" Barry and Constance Talmadge in "Wedding Bells."

Movies To Show Life of Lincoln on Anniversary

CONNIE TALMADGE "TURPIN" TIMES HER EYES IN "EAST IS WEST" AND THE BEAUTY BIRD EYE REJECTED LATEST RE-PORTER HOOAAY SA Y DEN IS JEALOUS OF CONNIE'S CROSSED OFFICE.

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The life of Abraham Lincoln will be told in motion pictures on the 300th anniversary of his birth, according to plans of a company now making a 15-reel production based on his life.

The producers have offered a print of the reel to the government and to the National Lincoln Memorial association with the idea that the film will be preserved in a vault until February 12, 2100.

The shame of it is that the real face of Lincoln will not be seen in the picture. However, a pictured story produced now will be more faithful to detail than any that could be produced 200 years from now.

A more satisfactory film to hand down to posterity would be one depicting the life story of Roosevelt, Wilson, Edison, Ford, Bell, Burbank or Burroughs that would show actual reproduction of those men in life-like motion.

The Lincoln film only points to the possibilities of giving posterity biographies of the world's geniuses in the most graphic form.

The comic talent of Constance Talmadge will not be entirely submerged in the film version of "East Is West," a play that stressed the dramatic rather than the comic phase.

In the photoplay Constance in the role of Miss Toy is to be sold to the highest bidder who can show her eyes she's as homely as Ben Turpin.

Fully seven will appear without make-up in future Bennett comedies. That means he's going to discard his soap-straining mustache.

If anyone can show where such overhauling mustaches add comedy to a character he or she is entitled to the bronze turkey feather.

Chester Conklin and Stan Pollard would do well to emulate Bryan.

A statement from the Paramount studios is offered in proof that play-ers salaries do not represent the chief item of expense in producing pictures. Figures are submitted from the daily expense account of "Mandragoras," in which Cecil DeMille filmed Roman bacchanal scenes.

On that day the salaries of Thomas Meighan, Leatrice Joy, Lola Wilson, John Miller and Casson Ferguson amounted to less than one-thirtieth of the day's total expense.

BUSY AFTERNOON FOR THE FIREMEN

Four alarms kept the fire department on the jump yesterday afternoon and evening. Each of the fires was of a minor nature and small damage was done.

A telephone alarm at 1.02 o'clock called a portion of the department to the Stockpole street dump where a slight blaze was quickly extinguished.

At 5.45 o'clock another telephone alarm summoned the firefighters to the City Foundry Co. in Plain street. A small fire on the roof was the cause.

At 6.35 o'clock a pile of rubbish in the rear of 219 Middlesex street occasioned a telephone signal, but the damage was of a minor character.

At 9.18 a grass and rubbish blaze called the firemen to Courtland street.

At the annual Elks outing at Martin Luther grounds in Tewksbury on Thursday last, the firemen were exclusively at The Strand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the coming week. These pictures were taken for exclusive showing at The Strand, and they promise to give an intimate and most entertaining series of glimpses and views of this annual event that brings so much joy and entertainment to the large number of Elks and their friends. The parade was first taken, and then the camera man went to the grounds and "picked up" scenes in all parts of the grounds. Some of them were arranged and others were quite impromptu. The winners of the various sporting events were snapped as they struggled over the tapes and covered hundred feet of film was taken of the baseball game and the celebrities in attendance.

Radio

Same Radio Signal, Crossing the Globe, Travels Both East and West

BY PAUL F. GODLEY
America's Foremost Radio Authority
What happens at a receiving station at the opposite side of the globe? Do the messages come from the east or the west?
Radio circles have been speculating about this problem of reception at the antipodes of a transmitting station for many years. Now comes H. H. Beverage, an American engineer, from extended research in southern Brazil and tells us what happens.
During his experimenting, Beverage found it possible to make observations on many signals from a U. S. government station in Hawaii. He could receive them either from the west across the Pacific and the continent of South America, or from the east across the western Pacific, Africa and the Atlantic.

The French government sent out an expedition last year to get observations on this subject. An Englishman in his travels across the Pacific endeavored to carry on similar experiments. As far as known at present, the observations of Beverage were made about two weeks before those of Tremellon, the Britisher.

In Theory
Theoretically, when the receiving station is at a point on the earth's surface exactly opposite the transmitter, the waves coming from both directions around the earth should reinforce each other. Having traveled this same distance, they should still be in step or phase.
As a matter of fact, due to varying meteorological and daylight conditions existing over the two paths, and due to the variation in absorption which may take place over the land, even at the antipodes, waves from both ways could scarcely be expected to arrive exactly on time to the ten-thousandth part of a second.

In Beverage's observations, signals from Hawaii received from the east were stronger during one part of the day, those from the east were stronger at another time. Only for short times were they equal in strength.

Interference
At these times, if both were received simultaneously, an interference took place between them. First their energies would add. A fraction of a second later they would be neutralizing each other. The result was an undecipherable series of signals.

Had it been possible to move the station a few hundreds of miles further east this effect would have been absent, and the energies from both ways around would actually have fully reinforced each other during certain periods in the day.
Another very interesting phenomenon which Beverage relates is that signals received from two stations quite near each other in Germany came entirely different paths in reaching southern Brazil. The signal from the station at Nauen came to Brazil over the South Pole, while that from Bielefeld chose the path over the North Pole. It is difficult to account for this phenomenon, though several theories have been offered.

SUCCEEDS WHERE DOCTORS FAIL

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Often Does That.—Read Mrs. Miner's Testimony

Churubusco, N. Y.—"I was under the doctor's care for over five years for backache and had no relief from his medicine. One day a neighbor told me about your Vegetable Compound and I took it. It helped me so much that I wish to advise all women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and backache. It is a great help in carrying a child, as I have noticed a difference when I didn't take it. I thank you for this medicine and if I ever come to this point again I do not want to be without the Vegetable Compound. I give you permission to publish this letter so that all women can take my advice."—Mrs. FRED MINER, Box 102, Churubusco, N. Y.

It's the same story over again. Women suffer from ailments for years. They try doctors and different medicines, but feel no better. Finally they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you can see its value in the case of Mrs. Miner.

That's the truth of the matter. If you are suffering from any of the troubles women have, you ought to try this medicine. It can be taken in safety by young or old, as it contains no harmful drugs.

There are at least 1,250,000 square miles of coal fields in the world.

Underground Antenna Replacing Outdoor Receiving Aerial

The day of the aerial antenna for receiving is gone.
This is the conclusion of radio engineers who have been conducting experiments for the postoffice department to attempt to eliminate static interference in receiving. The experiments have been in charge of James H. Edgerton, superintendent of the radio section.
Instead of the aerial antenna, however, Edgerton has found three different methods of receiving that brought good results. These are:
1. Large vertical outside multiple turn loops.
2. Underground horizontal buried loops.
3. Underground antennae.

The postoffice department statement explaining the use of these forms of receiving antennae, says:
"The best results are obtained with the underground antenna when it can be laid in damp soil with a straight wire of 4000 feet. The horizontal buried loop is more or less of a new departure and has been very successful when well insulated and buried in water or very damp earth."
Even while lightning was striking, the report adds, communication was carried on with the use of the underground antenna.

Famous Veteran Oarsman Dead

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Jeremiah J. Casey, famous veteran oarsman, who coached the Harvard crews in '84, '85 and '86, died here last night following a heart attack. He was 63 years old. Casey defeated the best oarsmen in the country 30 years ago. He was the conqueror of Danbury of Boston, the older Ten Eyck and the great Joyce, of Springfield. Casey won further laurels as a member of the noted four-oared New England crew that kept a clean slate for three years. He also established a seven-year consecutive record for winning the city of Boston championship in the Fourth of July races.

Safe Dynamited—$100 and Bonds Taken

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 19.—A safe in the plant of the Witch City Bottling Works on Marblehead road, just outside Salem, was blown during the night and $100 in cash and several Liberty bonds owned by employees of the firm were stolen, it was learned this morning when workers appeared at the plant. The safe was blown to pieces after it had been wrapped with thick blankets. The windows and doors were also covered. Over one window an American flag was hung to dull the sound of detonation.

International Cup Races Oct. 15

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 19.—Trustees of the Halifax Herald trophy, emblematic of the international fishing schooner championship of the North Atlantic, said today that the international races would probably be held about October 15, off Gloucester. The Nova Scotia races will be held early in October. J. J. Kinley, of Lunenburg, and F. W. Baldwin, of Baddeck, were chosen to represent Nova Scotia at the international event.

Await Decision on Women Smoking

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Women here were waiting with interest today for the decision of Police Commissioner Enright as to whether a policeman can stop a woman from smoking a cigarette on the street. The question arose after Policeman Kilyon rapped the knuckles of Mrs. May Sladen after she refused to discard a cigarette. She was smoking while standing with her husband and chatting with friends on Broadway. She and other women in a motorcycle party wore knickers. Edward H. Sladen protested to the policeman that he had given his wife the cigarette and that there was no law to prevent her smoking where and when she wished. He made a complaint against Kilyon and the matter was passed to Commissioner Enright for decision.

Government to Man Pumps at Mines

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 19.—E. H. Armstrong, minister of war and public works in the Nova Scotia government, announced today that the provincial government had decided to man the pumps at the Nova Scotia mines threatened with flooding. The men will work under the protection of special provincial police, who will have power to call in the aid of the militia. One thousand men have been advertised for to engage in police duty. Mr. Armstrong said the government was taking these steps in order to protect public property.

Quarter Century Ago

From the Old Sun:
The firemen who responded to the alarm from Box 225 at 12.30 this morning, by their prompt work prevented a conflagration, saving a large amount of valuable tenement property. The alarm was occasioned by a brick blaze in the carriage shed of the stable of Mrs. John Courtney in the rear of her residence, 24 Lagrange street.
The fire had received quite a start before it was discovered and upon the arrival of the firemen was burning briskly. Hose 3 was on the scene in a short time, and its members quickly put out a line of hose. The fire spread through the stable on one side and to the tenement house owned by Mrs. Courtney and occupied by the family of Patrick Rabbit on the other.

Democratic City Committee
It looked like old times again to the politicians as one by one they entered old Jackson hall to attend the special meeting of the Democratic city committee, made necessary by the death of poor John Tully, one of the best of them all.

In the crowd that gathered were noticed a number of new faces, and the fall bids fair to introduce a few new "voters," as they are jokingly called.

It was evident that the two candidates for the position of secretary had done considerable work previous to the meeting and the contest, though quiet on the surface, was a spirited one underneath.
The chairman finally announced the results of the election as follows:
Thomas H. Muldoon 63
John J. Sullivan 32
The informal ballot was then made formal and unanimous on motion of Mr. Murphy, and the meeting adjourned.

Bicyclists Injured
Harry Osgood and Crawford Bassett, two well known Lowell boys, and pupils in the high school in this city, are reported to have met with a serious accident near Augusta, Me.
On last Saturday, they left town for a bicycle trip. Their destination being Machias, Me. Both boys were injured, and anticipated a good time on their tandem.

Yesterday morning they were found lying in an unconscious condition on the road near Windsor, Me., by Mark D. Grant of that place.
He took them up and a physician was summoned. The latter reported Bassett's fall from his wheel had caused concussion of the brain. Young Osgood was not seriously injured.
The particulars of the accident are vague as yet. The boys will probably be brought to this city and it is hoped that they will soon be all right.

Broke World's Record
Bernard J. Wefers yesterday broke the world's record at the oval in Worcester in the 120 yard dash, at the athletic meeting of the Memorial Hospital Athletic association.
He made the distance in 11.2-6 seconds, cutting off two-fifths of a second from the record which he had already equaled and held in common with Bailey, the English crack sprinter, and two others.

Mr. O'Donnell Honored
James F. O'Donnell, the well known undertaker, was tendered a complimentary banquet at the American house last night, in honor of his return from a pleasant European trip.
After the menu had been discussed, John B. Drury was introduced as toastmaster and made a happy speech in which he said many kind things of Mr. O'Donnell and expressed the pleasure of the company on his safe return.
Mr. O'Donnell responded and gave a brief and interesting account of his trip abroad.
G. A. R. Encampment
Early this morning, when the operatives of the big mills were making their way to work, the comrades of the G. A. R. were on the march to the Northern depot to take the train to Buffalo, where the annual encampment will be held. The delegation includes the following:

Post 120—Commander, S. G. Smiley; S.V. commander, C. A. Stickney; J.V. commander, A. J. Hall; quartermaster, W. W. Tuttle; adjutant, F. E. Butler; surgeon, John Carter; chaplain, R. S. Slippy; sergeant-major, Eugene Turner; G.A.R. E. R. E.
Comrades—John Baxter, Peter Littlehale, George A. Chase, Charles Davis, Daniel Taylor, John Palmer, W. W. Cox, J. S. Daniels, P. M. Jacques, John Kennedy, W. W. Stobbs, Charles R. Butler, A. W. Page, James Wright, R. H. Clark, James G. Clark, John Cornell, H. J. Dexter, George Smith, George S. Flint, Isaac Johnson, Dexter Earle, Dr. E. H. Holt, C. H. Flanagan, S. J. Smiley, James Miller.

Post 155 delegation will consist of Senior Vice Commander J. Adams Bartlett, Past Commanders Frank B. Pevey and Charles T. Fish, H. M. Porter, A. A. Cushman, F. C. Adams, James Emerson, George E. Anker, R. Smith, Charles Kitchen, Joseph Donio. From Post 42 the only comrades known to be going is D. E. Worthington. Past Commander W. H. I. Hayes is undecided.

Foresters' Convention
The Lowell delegation to the supreme convention of Foresters, to be held in Denver, Aug. 21-25, left this city at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Boston.

In the party were Supreme Ranger L. J. Smith, Supreme Secretary E. M. McMurtry, William A. Hogan, Esq., Court Wamesit, James F. Niskella, Court Merrimack, A. Bourdonniere, Court Columbus, Captain Charles Connor, Court Middlesex, John P. Hayes, Rev. James J. Keegan, former pastor of St. Mary's church, Randolph, has been transferred to St. Charles church of Woburn, and Father Gleason has been offered the pastorate at Haverhill. The party reached Boston at 4 o'clock and took dinner at the Quincy House. They met the other Massachusetts delegates there and after a social hour took carriages for the Boston & Albany depot.

Attacked by Dog
Miss Annie Sullivan, a resident of Lowell, was attacked by a large St. Bernard dog at the beach yesterday (Yann). She was bitten on the side, and her legs and arms were badly scratched by the animal.

RALLY BY WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB
Senator Lodge, Governor Cox and many others of note, will be guests at what will probably be the largest rally in the state this year, the reception and rally of the Women's Republican club at Salem Willows next Wednesday. President Harding himself, if he can spare the necessary time, will appear in person, and listen to the inspiring addresses of Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird and Mrs. Anna Thillinghast. Mrs. C. H. Masury will provide at this rally, and it is expected that the women of Essex county will have a wonderful reception planned for the honored guests when they arrive. Music will be furnished by the Salem Cadet band, and after the meeting an opportunity will be afforded one and all to meet the visitors.

The rally proper is scheduled to open at 3 p. m., and is expected that Congressman A. Platt, Andrew and Hon. Frederick Butler of Lawrence will address the meeting. The attendance is expected to approach the 20,000 mark. The place is easily reached either by auto or trolley, and as a special display of fireworks has been arranged for, including daylight fireworks at 9 p. m. and spectacular Italian pieces at 9.30 p. m., the day should be particularly enjoyable for all who attend.

CANADA ON ANXIOUS SEAT

Returning vacationists from the Canadian provinces inform us that Lowell citizens who are short of coal and worrying about it, have nothing at all on our friends in the north. Canada is threatened with a coal famine, too, next winter. For a country that lies so near the Arctic circle, it may prove to be a catastrophe. Fears are also entertained that the railway strike may extend across the border, with American railroads borrowing or commandeering Canadian rolling stock and sending their locomotives to Canadian shops for repairs.

That peace has reigned all these weeks in Canada while the railway heads and employees of this country have remained at loggerheads, is a really remarkable thing. Undoubtedly Canada's energetic minister of railways is responsible for the present industrial situation that approaches close harmony in the dominion across the border. We refer to "Bill" Kennedy, a hefty former railroad man. "Bill" Kennedy's knowledge of railroad affairs was a notable figure in "way" circles around Detroit. He is a millionaire now, but he hasn't forgotten what he learned from the men who toil for corporations. In his own constituency "Bill" Kennedy is a hero. No Canadian cabinet minister ever had a greater opportunity to score a spectacular success, and Kennedy's opportunity to show his real merit now comes apparently with the task set before him—that of appointing a new railway board for the dominion government. Much will depend upon the personnel of the new board.

A determined attempt has been made to stampede the new minister of railways into returning the historic Grand Trunk railroad to private ownership. It fell recently into the government's lap, and remains as an individual entity unmerged with the other government roads. If it could be relieved of some of its obligations, it would be worth obtaining control of. The western terminus is at Chicago and its eastern at Portland, Me. Nearly 2000 miles of its tracks lie in the United States and 10 per cent of its revenues are derived from American connections.

And now "Bill" Kennedy is standing out in front, planning to solve the Grand Trunk problem and solve it in a way that will please all Canadians who want to see the road back on its feet again where it ought to be in these times of revival and prophesied prosperity.

CONQUERING WORRY

What worries you most in life? Generally we buck up and face our problems squarely. Our attitude, "I'll do the best I can, it won't do any good to worry about it." Then we turn around and think about a trifling incident.

Dr. Donald Gregg, able physician in Wesley, Mass., writes: "Henry may wake up after sleeping on his arm and be a bit annoyed to find his arm numb. William, whose father has just had a shock involving his left side, may be quite upset when he finds his arm numb from the same cause that failed to distress Henry."

Worry is a psychopathic condition, an emotional disease. Sometimes it is caused by unconscious vanity—an exaggerated conception of the importance of ourselves and our surroundings.

Most worries are imaginary. Doctors lately notice an exceptionally large number of patients with nothing really wrong with them, yet they are "terribly worried." All they need is the physician's reassurance that the best thing is to forget it. Now that the medical profession is beginning to understand the endocrine glands of the body, a peculiar cause of worry is discovered. This type of worry sometimes takes the form of a constant apprehension of impending disaster, a fear of nothing in certain elements by the thyroid and adrenal glands. Usually, though, worry is a mental disorder, a sort of escape from an outlook from the disordered nervous system.

People who worry chronically would trade a few years of life to be able to shake off apprehension and brooding anxiety. First of all, according to Dr. Gregg, the victim must learn to control himself. That is, bring the will power into play, resolve to accept and meet the problems of life calmly and calmly. The best medicine is work and a hobby interesting enough to take the patient's mind off his worry and make him forget it. The worry may come back as soon as the work and play are halted. But generally the brain can be trained to forget. Just the same as it can be trained to remember. The incident you find yourself worrying, strive to displace the subject from your mind. Wipe it away, like chalk writing from a blackboard, and concentrate the mind on something else. Above all, remember that worry is nine-tenths in the imagination.

HANDICAPPING TRADE. The action of the Chamber of Commerce of New England uniting in urging congress to pass a bill to reduce fees for issuing and renewing passports, has the unanimous support, we believe, of every business organization as well as most of our citizens, who realize that excessive passport fees handicap trade.

Convinced that high fees of this kind are checking the extension of American business in foreign countries, the committee on foreign trade of the Boston Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday sent letters to the members of the national house committee on foreign affairs urging passage of a bill to reduce fees for issuing and renewing passports. According to the Chamber committee, foreign countries have established excessive fees in retaliation for high fees charged by the United States government.

Business men know that anything retarding American business abroad at this time, when it should be granted every facility and encouragement, should be eliminated. The high passport fees have discouraged the legitimate pursuits of American students and tourists as well as industrial representatives and salesmen.

The heavy charges imposed on Americans on the other side of the ocean are, of course, justified, since they merely reflect the charges which the United States has assessed on passports of their own nationals in this country, and in large measure represents only the attitude of self-defense.

The heavy charges levied by the United States on passports of visitors seem to be more unwarranted because the income from this source is far in excess of the cost of the service. Indeed, the costs, as the Chamber of Commerce committee asserts, would be repaid and a profit would still accrue to the government if the fees for issuing and renewing passports were reduced to one-fifth of the present charges. The matter is now before congress in house bill No. 12,235.

THAT FUEL COMMITTEE

The long list of "fuel committees" named by Governor Cox several days ago and covering pretty nearly every city and town in Massachusetts, was not quite long enough, it seems. Wednesday morning additional members were added to the emergency organization, somebody evidently overlooking our best society calendars.

It seems to be necessary to have members of the fair sex on the fuel committee of the future, although on the first list the names of feminine voters were rare. Governor Cox now corrects this slight lapse of executive advance planning, with a goodly array of names that might have been drawn from a social register, so complete is the list.

We have no doubt but what someone gently hinted to His Excellency that the new subcommittee was entirely overlooked in the first roll of fuel committee members. Today we have with us names of society gentlemen, representatives not only Boston districts, but Roxbury, Dedham and even Weymouth.

We have no criticism to make of the added list, for with a larger committee under arms, perhaps we may be able to get more coal.

The only criticism that could be made of the fuel committee lists is the rather odd situation which Governor Cox found himself in just after his first lengthy list of names was published earlier in the week. It was discovered that none of the war veterans' organizations had representatives. Governor Cox hastened to remove that situation by the appointment on Wednesday of General Charles J. Cole, commander of the state department, American Legion, and General John J. Dunn, commander of the state department, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

UNCLE SAM'S TWO ROLES

Congressman James A. Gallivan wants to know where the United States shipping board buys its liquors to serve on our immediate government vessels beyond the three-mile limit. He isn't the only American citizen who would like to know just how the U. S. A. is conducting its bargaining of the sea.

Resolutions were filed in the house of representatives at Washington, Wednesday, requiring the shipping board to inform the house where it purchases its abnormal array of alcoholic liquors aboard government vessels.

Mr. Gallivan has been told by business men outside the halls of congress that the board purchases large quantities of liquor in Great Britain from distillers and brewers, as well as in other foreign countries, and at prices greatly in excess of those which the prohibition commissioner of the United States would be able to quote for similar stocks of stimulants.

The inquiry is really to find out whether it is legal or practicable to secure these liquor supplies from sequestered stores now held by the United States prohibition commissioner. Mr. Gallivan also wishes the public to be informed as to how much of the amount of funds appropriated by congress for the activities of the shipping board have been expended, since the national prohibition act became effective, for the purchase of intoxicating liquors in England and other foreign countries.

The problem of Uncle Sam maintaining liquor saloons on the high seas beyond the three-mile limit of the U. S. A. has been a warm subject for the prohibitionists for many months. Perhaps the Gallivan row alone at administration targets at this time when the topic is alive, will reveal an interesting story that may open the eyes of curious taxpayers, many of whom cannot understand why the government is disposed to be a prohibition advocate on home territory and a pretty busy "wet" agent abroad.

ENFORCING GOOD LAWS. The state department of public utilities announces the cancellation of the registration of more than 150 stock salesmen under the "Blue sky law," for having failed to comply with provisions of the law relating to the notification of the department of changes in mailing addresses or furnishing information as to the names of the respective brokers by whom they were employed or appointed.

Those who at one time attempted to discredit this statute as "something that would not work," must admit that it is doing just what its originators expected it to do. The list of names cancelled off the license books of the state includes those of stock salesmen in various parts of Massachusetts, New England and New York state. Hearings were given on all cases about a month ago, but not one of the men appeared.

Perhaps some of those unthinking people who openly sneered at this "Blue sky law" and joked about the aims of its fathers, now realize that it has accomplished something worth while after all by cleaning out a good many so-called "fly-by-night" stock "brokers," who were brokers in name only.

The publicity given to the aims and objects of this law by the Lowell chamber of commerce, and other civic organizations, has helped wonderfully in performing the tasks that needed performing in many sections of the state. The local chamber was among the very first bodies of this kind to give wide publicity to the new statutes and explain their merits.

DOLLAR WHEAT

Western grain growers and it calumnious when the price of wheat goes below a dollar. The people at large, however, like to see wheat prices dropping down around 85 cents or even lower, and the chances are that prices around this figure—under the dollar mark—will be seen for some time to come in the big markets, if the wheat crop turns out to be as large as prophesied.

Flour buyers are now discussing the purchase of 35,000,000 bushels of wheat in western centers for export since the new crop came onto the market. There is, you see, enough wheat this year to go around at home, with plenty left to ship abroad for starving Europeans. This wheat has not yet been moved and if it came on the market in the form of hedging sales, it might smash the market by its great weight alone.

The government estimates this year's crop at 10,000,000 bushels larger than the crop at harvest last year. A small crop this year would be a calamity.

THE WANING MONTH

The month now drawing to a close has witnessed the approach of a near-crisis, though it is doubtful if many people actually realize what is ahead of them in the minimal days to come. All industries are beginning to feel the pinch of the fuel shortage.

This is especially noticeable in the steel industry, where approximately forty blast furnaces have been forced to suspend operation since the beginning of July. It is also predicted that more will close, and that if there is no improvement in the movement of fuel within the near future, entire plants will have to suspend operations. Thus is the picture of conditions furnished in the steel trade, and many other industries are in the same predicament.

Mr. Harding is called a very patient man. He was "T. R. until he discovered that Americanism doesn't mean anything unless America asserts herself and strikes out for freedom with both hands.

The financial aid sent to that aged Carlisle woman who was deprived of funds in a time of deep distress, shows how promptly the seeds of American sympathy germinate.

We trust the county fair flags will be flying over at Golden Grove before many days. Grotton is already in line, with Acton a close second.

The golden autumnal season of the year has nothing at all on the sea and yellow aspect of the back to normalcy movement.

Cutting the prices of automobiles ought to be a sure sign that times are getting better in spite of the coal and rail strikes.

And to think that it was our old friend Herb Hoover who suggested the charge of 25 cents a ton for the distribution of coal in Massachusetts!

That six-day car strike in Chicago was entirely successful in demonstrating how to waste money at the cost of a suffering public.

The hot air furnaces of the country at large are working overtime now, but without the sort of fuel most of us demand.

The bumper crops won't go a very long way if the rail strike keeps up much longer.

A lot of our good friends may miss those dollar excursions to the summer resorts, but the coal cars are the first.

"Keep Smiling" is dead easy when someone else is paying for the meal checks.

Brief Divorce Case
A suit tried by the late Sir Francis Jeune in the English divorce courts is said to be the briefest on record. Sir Francis summed up the case as follows: "If the husband were the brute the wife says he is not, but if the wife is the saint he makes himself out, he is far too good for any woman. Consider your verdict, gentlemen."

Didn't Like It
Brown had just missed the 3:30 train, after a desperate race along the platform. He was middle-aged, and his hair had thinned much. As he puffing hard, a sympathetic porter said: "Missed the 3:30, sir?" It was too much—human politeness would not stand for it. "No, sir," answered Brown, "I just hated the look of it, so I chased it out of the station!"

Get Rich Quick
In a confidential chat to a group of medical students a surgeon talked about the fees which might be charged. "The best rewards," he said, "are to be had by the established specialist. I charged $25 for a call at a patient's private residence, $15 if they consult me at my house, and $5 for a telephone consultation. I charge an absolute minimum and am always silent and then a voice from the back of the room inquired: "What do you charge a fellow for passing you in the street?"

Today's Word
Today's word is altruism. It's pronounced al-troo-izm, with accent on the first syllable. It means—regard for or devotion to the welfare of others. It was first used by the philosopher Comte, who perhaps borrowed it from the Italian, "altru," meaning "off" or "to others." It's used like this: "Many Americans feel that while it is all very well for them to discuss among themselves the desirability of canceling the European indebtedness to them, the suggestion comes with a very bad grace from the Europeans who seek to profit by this hoped-for altruism."

Fallen Hero, Indeed
Gertrude was not more than 15 when she encountered "the climax of her life," as she termed the arrival of the new dentist who had moved into the old house. It was first used by the philosopher Comte, who perhaps borrowed it from the Italian, "altru," meaning "off" or "to others." It's used like this: "Many Americans feel that while it is all very well for them to discuss among themselves the desirability of canceling the European indebtedness to them, the suggestion comes with a very bad grace from the Europeans who seek to profit by this hoped-for altruism."

Heed the Words of Solomon
How often, Glen, when you are rapped, do you hear the words of Solomon, O Solomon! O Solomon! And shun the stranger's game!

Vice parts the yoke from his collar. The wastrel from his soul—When Reuben went to Babylon, To Babylon, to Babylon, When Reuben went to Babylon, They always kicked his roll!

If you will play with loaded dice, Why think you your downfall odd? Backed in Nineveh, In Nineveh, in Nineveh, Backed in Nineveh, Always dropped his wad!

Be sure the winsome trails you meet Go good as they are fair—O Samson, did Delilah, O Delilah, O Delilah, Cut off your pretty hair!

One hoob may die, but deathless is The royal race of Hickeys! When Abah went to Ascalon, To Ascalon, to Ascalon, When Abah went to Ascalon, They sold him gilded bricks!

O Gites, you're safer on the farm Than seeking ain and strife! Then heed the words of Solomon: O Solomon! O Solomon! Then heed the words of Solomon And lead the quiet life!

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

To make a clamboke or an outing a success it is generally necessary to have one or two boxing bouts on the card. At the Elks' outing, held Thursday at the Martin Luther grounds, there was some high class boxing by boxers whose services were secured through the efforts of Cecil P. (Desk) Dodge, who promotes the shows in this city during the winter. The first bout brought together "Faint a Ride Home" Brown and Jimmy Domes. These boys put up a fine exhibition, but Brown was a little too clever for his opponent. Another bout saw in action Young Hamlin and Young Tansey. This bout was also a dandy to watch. Young Kibby of Lawrence was the referee.

Poor old dad always seems to get the worst end of the deal no matter which way the wind blows. Yesterday I was bustling streets waiting for a street car. Near me stood a father and his youthful daughter. The day was warm as you will remember and the father seemed to be pretty well tucked out from a hard day's work. The daughter, on the other hand, seemed to be as fresh as the proverbial daisy. An auto came by carrying two young men and a young lady. "Want a ride home?" were the words flung at the father and daughter as the auto stopped a few feet beyond them. "Yes, thanks," was the reply from both. They took about seven or eight steps, with the daughter ahead, when she turned and said: "You'll have to walk, pa; there isn't room enough for both of us. And poor old dad started plodding up the street. It seemed to me as if a cool ride home, after a hard day's labor would have been the proper thing for daughter to have presented dad with. Such was not the case and was just another example of "Never mind what happens to father as long as we get ours."

Drivers of the one-man street cars on the Broadway-Oaklands line say that the old difficulty in passing the corner of Dutton and Merrimack streets during the busy hours of the day is being overcome rapidly. The whole difficulty was caused by persons who insisted on parking their cars along the curb at this corner, where the curve of the car tracks runs very close to the sidewalk. "Times after time, while carrying encasings of home ward bound passengers, I have seen the car stuck fast. Broadway cars have been compelled to hold up, and in some cases back up, in order to allow automobiles which had been caught in the jam between the car tracks and the parked machines to pass by. Whereas, because of the fact that the operators could not where they were going and keep about a delay to the car service would follow as a natural consequence, and seemed to think less of the comfort of scores of passengers than their own superior and mandatory right of way, they pursued their chosen direction. The traffic supervisor, under orders from Sup't. Atkinson, has had "no parking" signs set along the sidewalk, and the result is remarkably successful.

Frank Ricard, the jeweler, is a great worker and hustler for all sorts of public or club affair comes he has a hand in the doings and they usually turn out to be "some" doings." The past week he has been so busy with different affairs that he was traveling every minute. On the first of the week he was "hitting" on all levels, was at the Elks' clamboke and outing, and in the meantime, and during the rest of the week, he was making plans for the jeweler's outing, the Ad club outing, and his athletic carnival on the South common Saturday afternoon. The jeweler's outing covers Massachusetts as far south as Boston, through Lawrence, Salem, and Haverhill and as far north as Lancaster and Franklin.

A large truck horse slipped and fell yesterday afternoon in Appleton street and for some unaccountable reason the animal refused to budge from his sitting posture, despite the efforts of his master and a group of curious on-lookers. At first, the multitude that gathered was under the impression that the animal had become prostrated with the heat, as the stubborn creature was perspiring greatly. Such was evidently not the case, however, for the equine eventually rose from the ground of his own volition and permitted the driver to put him like a child. The automobile was so relegated the horse to the back-ground that such an incident is a rarity these days. And speaking of animal prostration, the humane society has had nothing of the humane society had to its office thus far. In former years when the thermometer flirted with the century figure, cats, dogs and other species of animal were brought to the station considerably under the weather.

It did not take a second or third alarm to have Truck 2, Hook and Ladder, L.F.F., brought through Merrimack square yesterday afternoon. The old, but once reliable fire-fighting machine, answered its last alarm some time ago and is now retired on pension, being temporarily or, I might say, permanently disabled. The familiar apparatus created a curious sensation as it was towed down Merrimack street, stripped of its shining regalia of by-gone days. A few dilapidated looking ladders were still intact on the old machine, but the rest of the old machine was conspicuous by its absence. I did not ascertain the destination of the former pride of the fire department, but I was inclined to think that it was destined for the junk pile. In my opinion it would be a good idea to preserve some of the old, horse-drawn vehicles of the past, so that future generations might see what the old-timers had to contend with prior to the introduction of motorized engines. The famous Butler Vets still own and frequently exhibit the historic hand-powered fire engine, well known in the early days of Lowell.

When you are right on the verge of vacation time, ain't it a grand and glorious feeling? You said it, brother. We know all about the guy who will chirp something about how fast two weeks pass, but at present we are sitting pretty, right on top of the little old world, with more than two full weeks stretching out temptingly ahead, beckoning on, and we are going to answer this siren's call just as sure as the sun and moon. It's funny, this vacation fever. One may not have a single thing planned, but somehow or other, the old anticipation begins to mount and you get—what do you call it?—stomach nervousness? Yes, I guess that's it. All kinder funny inside, or something. Today we clean up to work, too. Trying to steal a march on the old vac! Do you like pictures, or cards of male attire, or public libraries, or a glimpse of the park?

The Poughkeepsie bridge is 7100 feet long.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

THE DOPE SHEET

Sometimes a guy can disregard
Each rule of health, yet live to be
A hale old party, tough and hardy,
Who plays par golf at ninety-three;
And you might also do the same
And still grow very old and gray,
But, as the wise guys view the game,
The betting is the other way.

Sometimes the loafer cops the wad,
And drinks the nectar of success,
While he who works must dully plod
A path of toil and weariness;
And you, perhaps, might grab a roll
Without a stroke of work, but say!
You will observe that—on the whole—
The betting is the other way.

There are exceptions to all rules,
But when you're planning out your fate,
Don't be impressed by lucky fools,
Or think them wise to gamble
Some rounders laugh at Father Time,
Some idlers prosper and are gay,
But—here's the moral to this rhyme—
The betting is the other way.

SECRETARY OF LABOR HITS HARD IN "THE IRON PUDDLER"

Davis Slams Anarchy, Communism and the Lady of No Pie Making Fame—Report Has it That National Woman's Party Has No Use For Men Except in Menial Capacities

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—In his biography, written under the title of "The Iron Puddler," Secretary of Labor Davis deals sound blows against anarchy, communism and the idle poor. In addition he gives a knockout blow to the lady of no-pie making fame. Probably the lady lecturing recently before the Massachusetts Agricultural Association on domestic science had not read "The Iron Puddler" when she deplored the existence of pie. She urged the abandonment of pie-making by the women of today, adding "most husbands will eat what is placed before them." Out of pie, was her slogan. But, as a poor boy, the son of Welsh immigrants, Davis began his career as worker in an iron mill. It was the rough life, Davis first boarded at The Bucket of Blood; next at The Greasy Spoon, and then moved up in the social gastronomic scale till he landed in The Pie Boarding house. Commenting on the latter, Mr. Davis lays the no-pie lady's argument flat by saying: "The Pie boarding house represented prosperity for the woman who ran it. It knew how to make more kinds of pie than the fellows ever heard of. . . . Men cannot thrive in America without pie. I do not mean the standardized tasteless things made in great pie factories. I refer to the personally concocted pie that women used to make. . . . Now the pie is passing out and we are feeding on French pastry. Is our downfall at hand?" A joint debate between Secretary of Labor Davis and Mrs. Clark of Montague, Mass., now famous throughout the country as the no-pie lady, would draw a crowd. New England is often referred to as "The Pie Belt," but Mr. Davis was referring to Pennsylvania. In his tribute, "Is it possible that New England's pie championship is in danger? Or to quote his own words, 'Is our downfall at hand?'" Davis uses the word anarchy in a streak in men who don't want to work, but demand the benefit of the work done by others. If they don't get it, they take revenge by destruction. He compares them to rats, which do not build houses themselves, but steal and destroy the work of others. The heaven, says Davis, "builds houses and stores up food. It was the heaven type of men who built up America. It is the rat type of man who is now trying to destroy it."

Referring to the hardships of his immigrant days of great poverty, Davis says: "I was a digger for money, who incite discontent. He tells how he and his little brothers—five in all—slept five in a bed after hard work and long hours in the iron mill. He deplores the interference of outsiders in domestic and industrial affairs. "That right to sleep five in a bed was highly prized. There was one linen bolster for five hot little faces," says he. "When the bolster got feverish one boy called out 'turn over.' Then two boys turned the pillow and five hot, tired little heads touched the cool side and went to sleep again." This was when the boys were so young that "Mother used to hold a lamp in the doorway," so they wouldn't be afraid to go out into the blackness of 2.30 a. m. which was the hour when two of the youngsters quit the night shift and two others began their toll with the day shift.

Davis waxes wrath over the discontent roused today by men who make it a profession to stir up strife between capital and labor. Of such men he says: "They are full of the brimstone of envy." He knows what it is to be in both the labor and the capital class. He began very young as "boy" to an iron puddler, working long hours in the grime and heat of the great furnaces. From that he worked his own way to wealth and influence. And this biography, written in a light vein that will catch the attention of men in all walks of life, makes it clear Davis believes there is no natural or necessary feud between capital and labor. He attributes it to envy and jealousy of "the yellow streak in men of the fat type."

No Use for Men

Word is said to have gone forth from the Watch Tower, as the headquarters of the national woman's party is called, to the effect that no men shall be employed by them "except in menial capacities." The Watch Tower is a great grey building within a stone's throw of the capitol and overlooking the capitol grounds. It was so named by the woman party leaders, as from its windows they intend to keep close tabs on the votes and speeches of every member of congress, in order to know how to treat his campaign should he come up for re-election. The woman's party, however, is not espousing the cause of all the women candidates for high federal offices, and are bitterly opposed to such candidates as were ranked amongst anti-suffragists in the old days. It is that party which is advocating the adoption of still another constitutional amendment which would a married woman will retain her maiden name, separate domicile and the children of a family would bear the hyphenated name of father and mother.

The Fall of Overman

Watching Senator Overman of North Carolina walk into the senate chamber a few days ago, we of the press gallery were reminded of an incident that happened when Senator Stone of Missouri, better known as "Gum Shoe Bill," occupied a seat next to that of North Carolina's distinguished senator. It was then that Mr. Overman, one of the best mannered and best balanced members of the dignified senate took a tumble that broke down all rules of "No laughter or applause in the galleries." Senator Overman is the gentleman whose calm and impressive entrance into the senate chamber has been compared to "the ceremony and dignity of docking an ocean liner or warship." It happened at the moment when Senator Stone of Missouri was talking earnestly to Senator Reed of the same state, somewhat brooding the passage between seats as he did so. He saw, out of the corner of his eye, a shadow approaching and thinking the shadow wanted the right of way, hastily pulled away the chair placed at the desk of Senator Overman. Now, Senator Overman is a man of more than 300 pounds, whose heavy shock of gray hair, tall imposing figure, fine face and great dignity of carriage make him one of the most distinguished looking men in the congress. The approaching shadow seen by Mr. Stone was nothing less than the very substantial reality of Mr. Overman, who did not pause by, but to take his seat. This he attempted to do at the very instant Mr. Stone pulled the chair away. Senator Overman sat down on the floor with a resounding thud, and no attempt to do the "after you" Alphonse act. Assistance, apologies and explanations followed. The galleries laughed unreprieved by the vice president, and Senator Overman was found to be hurt only in his feelings. But it was a long time before Senator "Bill" Stone recovered from the embarrassment he had caused North Carolina's most distinguished representative.

$50,000 Loss in Second Fire in Two Days

CAMBRIDGE, Aug. 19.—The manufacturing district in East Cambridge was threatened early today when fire broke out in the plant of the Cambridge Auto Body and Wagon company. A general alarm brought all the fire apparatus of the city. Firemen were forced to fight the flames from the roofs of nearby houses and buildings. The estimated damage was placed at approximately $50,000. Fifty horses in a stable in the rear of the factory were rescued. The origin of the fire, the second large blaze in two successive days here, has not been determined.

Stage Season's Opening Gun Was Loaded with Blanks

BY JOHN O'DONNELL

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—What is frequently referred to as the opening gun of the new dramatic season has just been fired.

The 1922-1923 gun proved to be a double-barrelled affair with a blank cartridge in each chamber.

The new plays were "Whispering Wires," a melodrama of mystery and suspense made over from a Saturday Evening Post story, and David Belasco's new vehicle for Frances Starr, "Shore Leave." The Belasco contribution to the opening bombardment was a heavy charge of sobs, syrup and sweetness.

"Shore Leave" is the story of a New

Osborne. His contribution to the evening's entertainment was the smallest.

The play was weak but the acting was excellent throughout and at times became splendid—particularly in the case of James Rennie who played Billie Smith, U.S.N., the unwilling Olympe of Miss Starr's persistent Penelope.

The comedy was beautifully staged and tricked out with the typical ingenious business which shows the hand of Belasco. In the first act, the best written of the three, the beating of the distant surf was the best I have ever heard.

But after this opening act, which laid the foundation for a real play, the author's ears were deaf to the realm of the ocean. Acts two and three had so much of the Atlantic. They were sticky from contact with the Gulf Stream.

"The Bat" has now completed a two-year run on Broadway and leaves for Boston, just one year behind schedule. When "Whispering Wires" opened several of the local reviewers immediately popped forth with the announcement that the new play was "a successor to 'The Bat' and, as the most delicious shout, was a 'far better play than 'The Bat' or 'The Cat and the Canary.'"

All of which is rot. "Whispering Wires" is mildly diverting. It isn't in the class with either of the big mystery successes because the solution pivots on a mechanical trick.

But there are excellent shows running. We recommend "He Who Gets Slapped," "The Follies," "Music Box Revue," "Blossom Time," "Captain Applejack," "Kiki," "Kempy" and "Good Morning, Dearie."

The worst play is "Able's Irish Rose." The dullest is the wearying "Pin Wheel Revue."

FRANCES STARR AS THE SEAGOING DRESSMAKER IN THE NEW BELASCO COMEDY, "SHORE LEAVE."

England dressmaker who wanted to marry a sailor.

In the first act she lures him with hot biscuits, jelly and coffee; in the second act, she offers him a ship with the berth of captain; in the third act, she finally wins.

All in all, it was one of those plays that are too sweet for anything or too sweet to be good for anything.

Sea-Gein Comedy

REAL ESTATE SALE

Sales by E. F. Slattery, Jr.
Edward F. Slattery, Jr., real estate and insurance, Strand building, reports the following sales made through his office during the past week:

Final papers have been recorded in the sale of the property situated at 72-78 Otis street. The property consists of a four apartment dwelling house containing six rooms, pantry and bath to each tenant. The property has a land area of approximately 8000 square feet. The sale was made for Lena Mullin and the purchasers are Timothy Quinn and Julia Quinn who buy for investment purposes.

Sales by Thos. H. Elliott

Thos. H. Elliott, real estate and insurance, office 61 Central st., corner Prescott, reports the following sales negotiated during the week ending August 12, 1922.
John E. Brown sold his property at 38 Hudson street to Alice M. Ryan. The house is of the cottage type com- prising six rooms, pantry and bath. The land involved totals approximately 4000 square feet. Mrs. Ryan bought for investment.

The sale of an investment property consisting of a four tenement house with three car garages, situated at 17-19-21 Bassett street. The apart- ments are of five rooms each with bath. Land involved totals 4700 square feet. John J. O'Haire gave title to Harry J. Lappin.

Edgar Thompson transferred his title to property at 151 W. Sixth street to Selma Maguire. The property in- volved consists of a seven room single house and 4000 sq. ft. of land. The purchaser, Mrs. Maguire, is now occupying the house.

KEEPING LINE CLEAR

To prevent tie-ups to special cars, the Eastern Massachusetts Street Ry. Co. has been running emergency trac- tor patrols over the line to be cov- ered by the specials. With this sys- tem all minor breaks are quickly re- paired and the cars are able to pro- ceed to their destinations without de- lay. The policy of the company is to have a clear line to the beaches and other resorts on excursion or outing days. To date record time has been made on these trips.

BANK EMPLOYEES' OUTING

William A. Hogan, president of the Washington Savings Institution, was the host to the bank employees and their families on their annual outing. The party went by motor to Marblehead Neck, where they enjoyed bathing and sports during the afternoon. In the early evening a sumptuous dinner was served at the Ocean House at Swampscott.

LOWELL MALTA CLUB OPENING

The official opening of the new quarters of the Lowell Malta club in the Derby building in Middle street, was held Thursday evening. The exercises of dedication were presided over by President Cecil L. Pelton, and the aims and object of the club were explained by Treasurer Sidney T. Aldrich and others prominent in Malta circles. Concertina selections were given by James Tuson and several dramatic recitations were given by Frank Goss. Community singing con- cluded the entertainment. The new rooms are spacious and up-to-date in every respect, and are equipped with card tables, a library, victrola, and games of every description. Pool and billiard tables will be installed as soon as conditions warrant. Special con- ferences will also be added soon. A telephone will be on hand and local newspapers filed.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME.

THREE INJURED, CROWD IN PANIC AS TENT FALLS

HARWICK, Vt., Aug. 18.—Three persons were seriously injured and several hundred residents and summer visitors were thrown into panic last night, when a cloudburst caused a large chaucanque entertainment tent to collapse, completely enfolding the audience and pinning it to the ground. Pandemonium reigned when the people, toppled from their chairs by the heavy canvas folds, scrambled on their hands and knees through the dirt and mud caused by the downpour, to the open air.

The most seriously injured were Miss Blanche Dow, who suffered a broken leg; Daniel Crowley, injury to the head, and Michael Sullivan, cuts and bruises. The tent collapsed almost without warning. The lights were extinguished and men, women and children were forced to crawl into the open air and safely through the downpour which was illuminated only by the terrifying flashes of lightning. The storm broke just as the first act of the performance started. The weight of water on the canvas, with the strain brought by the high wind which caused the center support of the tent to break, is given as the cause of the accident.

THREE HELD FOR PORTLAND FIRE

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 18.—Donald Gardner, 22 years old of Howard, Pa., Milton H. Hogan, 24 years old of Boston and Ralph Remick, 18 years old of Winthrop, Me., are detained by the police here for further investigation concerning the $400,000 roundhouse fire of the Portland Terminal Co., last Sunday.

The men were taken into custody yesterday and are being held by order of Sheriff King Graham as suspicious persons.

Gardner and Hogan, according to the sheriff have been in and about Portland for two or three months, working at various places. He stated the men worked at the roundhouse, hiring out two or three days previous to the fire. After the blaze, they suddenly quit, he asserts. The men have been carefully watched and were arrested when it was learned they intended to leave Portland.

TEXT OF PRES. HARDING'S ADDRESS TO CONGRESS ON STRIKES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (By The Associated Press.)—The text of President Harding's address to congress on the industrial situation follows in part:

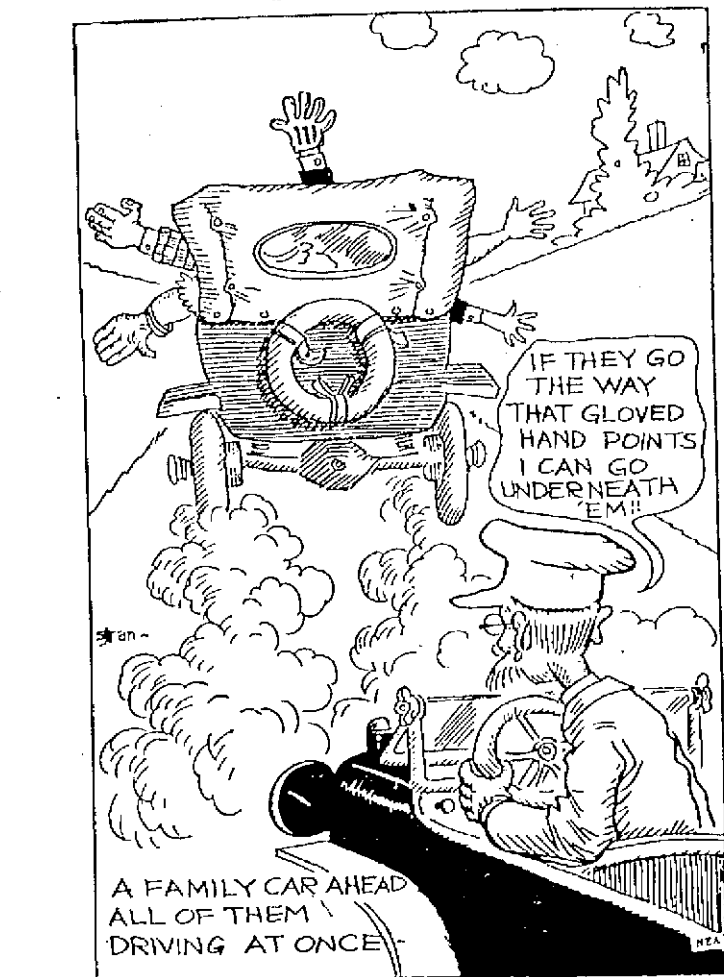

Gentlemen of the congress: It is manifestly my duty to bring to your attention the industrial situation which confronts the country. The situation growing out of the prevailing railway and coal mining strikes is so serious, so menacing to the nation's welfare, that I should be remiss if I failed frankly to lay the matter before you and at the same time, acquaint you and the whole people with such efforts as the executive branch of the government has made by the voluntary exercise of its good offices to effect a settlement.

The suspension of the coal industry dates back to last April 1, when the working agreement between mine operators and the United Mine Workers came to an end.

Causes of the Strike The president reviewed at length the causes of the strike, the mine workers' grievances and the operators' attitude. He then outlined the administration's attempts to bring the opposing factions together, seeking adjustment and the ultimate resumption of coal production. Finally the president indicated, the country-wide suffering and industrial hardships growing out of the lack of coal as the strike continued.

Because of these things, because of the impressions of many cases of unjustifiable profits in the industry, and because public interest demands investigation, and demands the finding of facts be given to the authority to ask at your hands the authority to create a commission to make a searching investigation into the whole coal industry, with provisions for its lawful activities and the bestowal of authority to reveal every phase of coal production, sale and distribution.

Laws to Protect Public The government will gladly co-operate with the industry in this program so far as it is the public interest to do so, but I have an unalterable conviction that no lasting satisfaction or worth-while results will ensue unless we may have a government commission, independent of the industry, clothed with authority by the congress to search deeply so that it may advise as to fair wages and as to conditions of labor and recommend the enactment of laws to protect the public.

GASSAWAY MILES

Pacific Mills Will Stand Back of Statement Made To Clergymen

LAWRENCE, Aug. 18.—The Pacific mills, in a statement issued this afternoon, said that it will stand back of its statement made to Rev. Fr. James T. O'Reilly and Rev. Donald H. Gorrish, regarding a readjustment of wages Oct. 1, and adds: "We stated that we should agree on Oct. 1 to pay to wool sorters and other worsted department employees, as well as cotton and worsted loom fixers, the former rates of wages, dating back to Sept. 1. We said this because we expected that the prevailing wages paid elsewhere on Oct. 2, would justify this. So far as our other operatives are concerned, there has been no general statement by the Pacific mills as to the amount of wage increase which might be effective Oct. 2, nor the date to which these adjustments should be retroactive."

Coolidge Says Strikes Indicate Prosperity

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 18.—Vice President Coolidge, who with Mrs. Coolidge and his two sons was here yesterday, declared the rail and coal strikes were indications of prosperity. They also indicate, he said, the restless state of the public mind generally which will become stable when the strikers are back at work.

embarked on a coast vessel from Boston, whence they came to Lowell at once. Coincidental with their journey to Lowell, Mr. Haggerty relates that the railroad from Boston to this city had just been completed, and therefore he was among its first passengers. He remembers the fresh sand along the tracks on leaving the train.

He found Lowell a city of about 15,000 inhabitants. But two or three houses had been erected in the section where he now resides, between the Merrimack and Concord rivers, one large house on the hill being the only structure of any importance. On the other side of the Concord, however, building was going on rapidly, and his family took up their abode on North street. Mr. Haggerty himself, taking up his residence in Belvidere 27 years later, at the time of his marriage in 1852.

At the time the Haggerty family arrived in Lowell the great industries of the present day, which had been started previous to that time, were in their infancy. Of the mills in operation along the Merrimack river, Mr. Haggerty recalls only the Lawrence Mfg. Co., the Tremont & Suffolk mills, the Merrimack Mfg. Co. and the Boot mills. He also recalls the Middlesex woolen mills on the banks of the Concord, and Whipple's powder mills, which passed out of existence before the Civil war, on the same stream.

Regarding the changes in his 87 years in Lowell Mr. Haggerty simply stated that they were great, indeed, and a wonderful thing to review in memory. He has seen the city, incorporated as a city one year after his arrival grow to immense proportions, and has seen generations of his friends pass along the inevitable way to another world. He has seen practically all of the mechanical inventions and improvements of more than four score years in which science has worked untiringly for the benefit of humanity throughout the world.

The venerable gentleman has never taken any great interest in politics. A lifelong democrat, he has seen the national campaigns of the whigs, their republican successors and the old Jeffersonian party throughout more than four score years, but has never felt the thrill of office seeking or campaigning. He is a simple, faithful citizen, adhering constantly to the party of his choice.

Mr. Haggerty's chief mission in life has been the teaching and rendition of music—good music. He began his career as a church singer with five years in a Boston church, returning to Lowell to sing at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. A director of the choir of that church for 30 years, and frequently participating in choir work there on other occasions, he has a long and honorable career to which he points with pride. He stated, in a simple, regretful manner, that many of the singers with whom he has been associated in the past, are not alive today while he, although he has practically given up teaching and visits the church occasionally to sing at a funeral, is still alive and in the best of health. Those who have heard Mr. Haggerty sing of late say that his voice still retains the purity and clearness of youth.

Mr. Haggerty has two daughters still living, Miss Winifred C. Haggerty and Mrs. John R. Martin. He has ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, and one of his fondest possessions is a photograph depicting the young children, one on either side.

TO PASS TARIFF BILL TODAY

Senate to End Its Four Months' Fight Late This Afternoon

To Pass Administration Measure by An Overwhelming Majority

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The senate will end its four months' fight late today with the passage of the administration bill by an overwhelming majority. With the absence of two republican senators generally credited as in opposition, it was expected that not to exceed three votes would be cast against the bill on the majority side. The general belief was that these would be offset by at least that many votes in support on the democratic side.

Although it worked until close to midnight last night, the senate will be back on the job half an hour earlier than usual today, in order to clear up amendments of individual senators. It was agreed that debate should be limited to five minutes for each senator on each amendment and that the administrative features, including the so-called flexible tariff provisions should first be considered.

WILLIAMS MAKES 31ST HOMER

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—Kenneth Williams, of the St. Louis Americans, hit his 31st home run of the season today in the first game of a double-header with Philadelphia. It came in the seventh inning when the bases were empty. Ketchum was pitching.

Fierce Fight for Kildorrery, Results in Success for National Forces

New Advance by National Forces Against Irregulars From North and South

DUBLIN, Aug. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The National Forces advancing in the irregulars from both the north and south in County Cork and an official bulletin announces the capture of Macroom, one of the more important centers in the western part of the country. The street, the last post under the Macroom command, was taken yesterday.

A fierce fight for Kildorrery, near Mitchelstown, resulted in a victory for the nationals, who took 27 prisoners and a large quantity of arms and ammunition. Two Red Cross workers attached to the national army have been killed in the Kildorrery district, according to a report from Tralee. They were viewing the picturesque scenery from a small boat on Lough Leane, and were fired on as they were disembarking on Inisfallen Island.

A motor car occupied by four national army officers was fired on in Augier street in this city. Last night and later subjected to a bomb attack. The officers were not injured but one pedestrian was killed and three were wounded.

BELFAST, August 19.—The northern government has prohibited the circulation of the Irish Catholic, a Dublin weekly newspaper, throughout Ulster, for one month, as the result of its attacks on the northern judiciary.

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN MURDER CASE

It was said in police circles today that John Henderson, the Lawrence Armenian who was the companion of Jacob Sarkisian when the latter was murdered in an East Draught berry patch on Wednesday of this week, soon will be strong enough to leave St. John's hospital, where he has been treated for stab wounds, which he claims he received when four young men attacked both him and Sarkisian. He is recovering rapidly, the hospital authorities say and his discharge will come early next week. It is believed that in the meantime local police officers are watching over him and he will be questioned further when he is able to be taken to police headquarters.

State Detectives Smith and Perrini are working on the case. Yesterday they were in Lawrence and today it was understood that Smith would come to Lowell again.

WANTS ANOTHER $1000 REWARD

Secretary of New Haven System Federation Appeals to Governor Cox

Asks Reward for Conviction of R. R. Managements for Violation of Federal Law

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Governor Cox, who recently offered a reward of $1000 for evidence leading to the conviction of persons guilty of violence against railroads or their employees, has been requested by Robert Henderson, secretary of the New Haven System Federation, to offer a similar reward "for evidence which will lead to the conviction of railroad managements for violation of any federal law, especially the federal inspection law, which applies to cars and locomotives."

Henderson, in a letter to the governor, said the striking shopmen felt that the reward as offered should cover "all violations of the laws of the state and nation."

MRS. MALLORY WINS MATCH

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Miss Helen Wells, 16 year old girl Californian, broke through Mrs. Mallory's service and won the first game, 6-3, in the finals of the women's national singles tennis championship here today.

Mrs. Mallory evened the set, 4-2, and took the third game 4-0, gaining the lead.

After Wells became careless at the beginning of the second set and Mrs. Mallory became stronger, winning the first game 6-3, and the second 4-1. In the third game, on her own service, the young Californian made a more determined fight, outvolleying the champion in the long volleys and winning.

CONDITION IS SERIOUS

Man Found on Lawrence

Boulevard by Police Officer is at Hospital

A man, said to be Oldroyd Crossin, about 65 years old, of Lowell road, Dracut, is in St. John's hospital today in a rather serious condition as the result of undetermined injuries, believed to have been received some time last night on the Lawrence road.

Shortly before midnight Officer Mitchell, of the Lowell police force, who is on vacation, was driving from Lawrence, when just north of Merrimack park he came upon an unconscious form in the road.

The man proved to be suffering from some kind of a heavy blow and he was

MAYOR REPUDIATES PURCHASING AGENT'S ORDER FOR AUTOS

Eddie Foye's Last Day at City Hall and He Went Out in a "Blaze of Glory"—Purchasing Agent Doesn't Have to Consult Mayor, Says Eddie

This was Eddie Foye's last day at city hall as purchasing agent, for on Monday, Edward J. Donnelly, already qualified for the job, will take over the office. Eddie left the city service this noon to the accompaniment of one of the most vivid displays of municipal pyrotechnics that has been touched off within the big stone building this year. He made his departure memorable, particularly for Hon. George H. Brown, mayor.

OFFICERS NOT POISONED

Over-eating and Not Potomac Poisoning Caused Illness of 40 Policemen

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Over-eating and not potomac poisoning caused the illness of forty members of the Boston police force, including Superintendent Michael Crowley, after a recent department banquet, according to the findings of the health department today. Six patrolmen were treated in hospitals following the feast.

In its findings, the health department said that the remains of the banquet were too meagre for analysis. It was decided, however, that the food, having been served by a competent caterer and purchased from reliable sources, was free from taint and that the trouble which followed must have been due to over-eating digestive symptoms.

STONE HURLED AT TRAIN

BROCKTON, Mass., Aug. 19.—When the 12:25 o'clock train from Boston arrived here this afternoon, Detective W. P. Heron, of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, interviewed Miles E. Barros, who was sprinkled with glass when a car window was shattered by a stone hurled at the train as it passed through Wollaston. The stone struck Barros, but he was not hurt.

TWO DIE AS PLANE FALLS

Tragedy Mars Dedication of Flying Field — Crowd Witnessed Tragedy

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Aug. 19.—Two persons were burned to death and a third, a woman, probably fatally burned late yesterday when an airplane crashed during the dedication of a new flying machine field here. The three were passengers in a machine piloted by B. Hughes of Minerva, I. L., who escaped with minor injuries. The dead were:

James Trahan of this city and his five-year-old son Norman.

Miss Evelyn Harris of Brattleboro was burned so severely that it was believed last night she would die. Her brother, Fred H. Harris, president of the Outing club, which was in charge of the exercises, witnessed the accident from another plane 2500 feet in the air.

The crash came when four planes were in the air performing "stunts" as the final feature of the dedication program. Pilot Hughes with his three passengers had just taken their place when the plane flew around and went into a nose dive. In its descent it came in contact with some high tension wires and immediately burst into flames. It fell on the bank of the West river, some distance from the flying field, at a point where there were no spectators.

The passengers were entangled in the wreckage and it was some time before help reached them. Trahan and his little son were dead when spectators of the accident hurriedly burned. Miss Harris was seriously burned. Hughes was thrown clear out of the plane and escaped being burned.

Governor James H. Harris, who had given an address at the exercises, was a witness of the accident, which occurred in full view of the crowd of several thousand persons assembled for the dedication ceremony.

REPUBLICAN RALLY

IN WESTFORD TODAY

Uncertain weather again this year marked the big republican pow wow held at Westford this afternoon. Last year the stalwart members of the G. O. P. were all soaking wet after one of the worst thunder storms of the summer had blown over the town and while today's rain was not in thunderstorm form, it will feel just as damp. Scores of republicans from Lowell braved the elements, however, and made the trip to the pretty little town where extensive preparations had been made for the large playground for their reception and pleasure.

Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge was scheduled to speak, as well as Gov. Cox and his lieutenant-governor, Alvan T. Fuller and Lowell's own congressman, John Jacob Rogers.

In the afternoon the gathering of the clans and all preparatory to the state campaign that will soon break over the commonwealth. Everything that was G. O. P.ish was discussed pro and con, pledges of fidelity were being and there old battle tunes were sung and there plenty of substantial "cats."

A baseball game, staged for the benefit of the party adherents was one of many features.

The success of the whole affair hinged on the friendship of the weather man, however, and as a result, as a man, however, was a good democrat. Perhaps this year he will behave and be a real member of the G. O. P.

PLAYGROUND SEWING

CLASS EXHIBITION

The sewing class of the Varnum school playground, under the supervision of Miss Margaret Riley, gave a wonderful exhibition of their skill with the needle and thread at a special class last Thursday evening. The work of the youngsters was a revelation to the who attended and a credit to Miss Riley's capable instruction. All the more remarkable in the accomplishments of the amateur sewer when one considers the ages of the pupils, which ranged from 10 to 13 years. Every member of the class has a presentation of 3 or 4 pieces of handwork, including darning, patching, dresses, caps, underwear, embroidered towels and dollies, all closely approaching perfection.

In appreciation of their co-operation and excellent work, Miss Riley tendered her pupils a pleasant surprise party last Friday afternoon in the sewing room of the school. Special tables, with flowery decorations, were arranged in the room and the girls were served to the delight and amazement of the guests. The girls' exhibition of "expert" needle artistry, entertainment in the form of song and recitation, concluded an enjoyable afternoon's program.

TRAFFIC JAM BROKEN

Danger of a traffic block in Merrimack square this noon was averted by the quick work of Patrolman Edward T. Flanagan. A small automobile stalled directly in the way of all traffic, and threatened to cause a jam which would be impossible to break. Officer Flanagan saw the jam and immediately seized the car on either side and pushed it through the square to a point in front of the Fairbank building. The fact that the car was left at the curb facing toward the square, seemed to amuse many of the spectators. The officer had to move quickly in order to return to his duty in the square, and had no time to deal with mischief in the emergency.

SARAZEN WINS SECOND TITLE

Former Caddy Defeats French at Oakmont Final by 4 and 3

OAKMONT COUNTRY CLUB, PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 19.—Four years ago a 17-year-old caddy named Eugene Sarazen sat under a tree on a golf course at Bay View, N. J., and told himself in a daydream that he was going to become king of all American professionals. That dream came true yesterday on the course at Oakmont. The same Eugene Sarazen, already open champion of the United States, captured the final round of the national professional tournament, the 1922 French Open Championship, by four up and three to play, in a desperate 36-hole struggle that was nip and tuck through the turn of the afternoon. Both players showed the effects of nervous tension throughout the match, neither taking spectacular chances.

Owes His Health to "Fruit-a-lives" The Famous Fruit Medicine

LOUIS GLOOR 45 Lakeside Ave., Marlboro, Mass.

"Four years ago, when I first learned of 'Fruit-a-lives,' I was suffering severely with Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism. I had contracted a bad cold. My back pained all the time, hurting badly when I stooped or attempted to lift anything and my kidneys would not act.

Beginning the use of 'Fruit-a-lives' (I had read good accounts of this famous fruit medicine in the Montreal French papers) I soon found they were the remedy I required.

In three weeks time, I felt like a new person. However, I kept on with the treatment and was absolutely rid of every symptom of Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism."

general meeting of the association of railway executives here early next week at which will be considered a proposition for ending the railroad strike, acting as mediators, to a committee representing the carriers.

The proposal under consideration by the roads was not officially defined at the end of yesterday's parley. In some quarters it was said to provide for immediate restoration of strikers with seniority rights unimpaired. In other quarters, it was said to provide for return of the strikers as rapidly as they could be absorbed, with their seniority ultimately to be settled with satisfaction to all. In either case, it was said, new recruits were to be retained as extra men would be required in the shops at the end of the strike to repair bad-order cars.

designed to forestall similar future difficulties were under way today.

Both senate and house republican leaders promised speedy action and they were said to have the support of most of the democratic leaders. Members of the house interstate commerce committee, last night were requested in telegrams sent by Representative Mondell, republican floor leader, to return to Washington at once to begin work on the necessary bills and possibility of their passage in part at least, next week was declared good.

The proposed legislation, it was indicated by leaders, will be confined for the present to measures to set up an agency to purchase and sell and distribute interstate commerce and for creation of a commission to ascertain the facts in the coal industry.

rushed to the hospital. Nearby the spot where the car was found an auto was discovered, which upon being examined was found to be in running condition.

Officer Ryne took the number of the machine and reported to the police force of Methuen, as the man police found near the Methuen line.

This morning two people called at St. John's hospital and gave the above name as that of the man who was brought there. Officer Ryne was not given out, saying he was unable to talk and seems to be in sort of a stupor as if recovering from a heavy blow. As far as can be ascertained there are no marks of violence on his body except a cut on his forehead and a broken bone in his hand, which is being kept under close observation.

Prices in the Local Markets

According to a representative of one of Lowell's larger markets, the prices of provisions, vegetables and other household necessities have shown no noticeable increase or decrease over the figures quoted a year ago. As the season is getting rather late, the prices of vegetables is on the decline and the market is well supplied. Grocers are hard to get just now and attribute the scarcity to the railroad strike on transportation facilities do not warrant a speedy delivery. Sweet potatoes are selling

Officer Ryne took the number of the machine and reported to the police force of Methuen, as the man police found near the Methuen line.

This morning two people called at St. John's hospital and gave the above name as that of the man who was brought there. Officer Ryne was not given out, saying he was unable to talk and seems to be in sort of a stupor as if recovering from a heavy blow. As far as can be ascertained there are no marks of violence on his body except a cut on his forehead and a broken bone in his hand, which is being kept under close observation.

Attacks on Car Shops Feared

til next Wednesday, when spokesmen for the railroads and striking dynamite men due to meet again. Dynamite and violence kept the strike from lagging. Outbursts occurred at scattered points from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Bombs were thrown into the Aetna, Topeka & Santa Fe yards at Albuquerque, N. M., and a heavy blast rocked the tracks of a Chesapeake & Ohio railroad bridge near Huntington, W. Va., early today. According to early reports neither explosion caused much damage.

Dynamite Tears Up Track

Dynamite tore up the track of the Illinois Central at Paducah, Ky., just ahead of a coal train. Two passenger trains and a freight had passed a short time before and the explosion burst behind a bridge crew. The oncoming coal train was flagged in time to prevent a wreck.

All available United States deputy marshals in the district were rushed to Shawnee, Okla., early today to guard against violence in the shops of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific. A strong guard was thrown around the shops. Marshal Alva McDonald ordered protection for the shops after 30 shots had been fired into the shops where workmen were employed.

Governor Morrison, of North Carolina, who declined earlier appeals to send troops to the Spencer shops of the Southern Railway, assured President Fairfax Harrison, of the road, that the state would protect the company's property and the strikers.

Unauthorized strikes of train crews continued to clear away rapidly as the trainmen returned to their jobs in most places where walkouts occurred.

Clerks Vote to Strike

New complications on the Missouri Pacific arose when 50 per cent of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, employed on the road voted in favor of a strike.

Removal of armed guards employed by the Great Northern Railway at Havre, Mont., was demanded by local officials of the "big four" train service brotherhoods. The demands followed the killing of a Great Northern brakeman by a guard Thursday night. Weapons were taken in various parts of the country towards prosecution of strikers arrested in connection with disorders and violations of injunctions restraining them from interfering with railroad operations.

At Pratt, Kansas, a warrant was issued for the arrest of P. Hylan, general manager of the Rock Island carmen. The warrant charged violation of the Industrial Court act. Hylan, in a speech was quoted as referring to the court as a joke.

Mayor Repudiates Order

R. H. Long Co. of Framingham, dealers in the Bay State car.

Edo was satisfied that it was a good "buy." The price for both was $400, with an allowance of $200 on two Nationals now to be discarded.

Then the mayor got wind of it and this morning he issued a man-sized warning to the works by notifying the Long Co. by telephone and in writing that the order "did not go." He had not approved it and therefore, it was void.

He based his contention on a section of the city charter which says that the mayor shall approve all contracts for the purchase of materials and supplies and that all purchases shall be approved by the mayor before the same shall be accepted by the city.

The mayor said: "Things do not look right to me. There were lower bids received than the Long Co.'s—take the Studebaker, for instance, he bid was $320, with $300 allowance."

The mayor will move today to stress the point that the purchasing agent had not recommended any car to him, nor had he talked the matter over with him.

Mr. Foye's reply to that was: "No, I didn't recommend any car to him and I didn't have to. Whether the mayor placed his signature on the requisition calling for two cars, that was approval enough for me. We are not entering into any contract for these cars, we simply are giving an order."

"Sure, I wrote the order yesterday morning," continued the purchasing agent. "That's what I'm doing for. When there was a lot of talk about the purchase of two Packard trucks the city solicitor gave a ruling to Auditor Daniel E. Martin that I, the purchasing agent, had the absolute authority to make all purchases, and I'm making this one."

In discussing Mr. Foye's action in awarding the order, the mayor said that the Long Co. had offered an allowance of $300 for the National cars, but that only $200 had been written on the order. Mr. Foye showed the order and the mayor said that he would place the seal of the Long Co. on the order and that $200 would be allowed on one car and $125 be allowed on the other. This is the figure written on the order in compliance with the bid.

"I don't have to run up to the mayor's office with a recommendation for a car," declared Mr. Foye, "everything I buy," declared Mr. Foye, "I am satisfied that the City State is a good, serviceable car and that it has been legally and properly ordered."

Green Assistant Trade Commissioner

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Appointment of Davis S. Green of Hartford, Conn., as assistant trade commissioner at Paris, was announced today by Secretary Hoover.

To Reject Offer of Pacific Mills

LAWRENCE, Aug. 19.—The strategy board of the United Textile Workers voted unanimously today to recommend the rejection of the offer of a strike settlement made by the Pacific Mills yesterday. Rev. Father O'Reilly, who made public an offer of the Pacific Mills on Wednesday, stated today that the offer made yesterday by the Pacific "is directly at variance" with what he had been told.

Mathilde McCormick Goes to Basle

SEELISBERG, Switzerland, Aug. 19.—Mathilde McCormick, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, has left here, after a stay of several days. It is rumored that she has gone to Basle. Max Oser, her fiancé, called upon her several times while here. Miss McCormick was accompanied by her governess.

$100,000 in Liquor, 3 Autos, 15 Men Seized

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Liquor valued by the police at $100,000, a motor driven yacht, three automobiles and 15 prisoners were bagged in an early morning raid made by the local police on a coal company's docks. The police swooped down on the dock as the crew of the yacht, the "Bat," was unloading its cargo, they say. The 15 men tried to get away but for almost an hour the police combed the various coal pockets on the pier, finally getting all of them, except the captain.

Seaplane Held Up By Weather

SOUTHPORT, N. C., Aug. 19.—On account of unfavorable weather conditions the seaplane Sampaio Correa, bound from New York to Brazil, which arrived here yesterday from Manteo, was unable to continue the flight southward this morning. Lieutenant Hinton, pilot of the craft, said he would leave just as soon as weather conditions cleared, but on account of storms along the coast early today, it was doubtful whether the ship would be able to get away before this afternoon.

Heavy Firing Throughout Dublin

DUBLIN, Aug. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—There was heavy firing all last night throughout the city of Dublin between National Army forces and Republican irregulars. Free State troops on patrol duty were fired at by snipers and machine guns, who attacked National Army posts in various parts of the city. The plans of the irregulars, however, were frustrated by the vigilance of the National troops, it was stated today.

Gov. McCray Determined to Stop Bout

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 19.—Governor McCray today sent a letter to Sheriff William E. Anstiss, sheriff of Laporte County, in which the executive declared that he is convinced that the Dempsey-Brennan bout at Michigan City is a prize fight and therefore prohibited by law. The governor prepared the letter several days ago but at the request of Michigan City residents delayed sending it. In a revision of the letter which the governor made today before mailing it, he said:

"To my mind it is clear that it either is intended that the affair is to be a prize fight or else the public is to be badly disappointed, if not defrauded. In any event, there would be a violation either of the written law of the state or the unwritten law of common fairness and equity."

Hunter Eligible For Golf Tourney

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Willie I. Hunter, former British amateur golf champion, today was declared eligible for the American amateur championship tournament next month at Brookline, Mass. The United States Golf Association, after investigation of his standing, announced he retained his amateur status.

Woman Marshal Resigns Her Job

DESLACS, N. D., Aug. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Mrs. Bertha Ward, elected village marshal last spring when a complete feminine administration was swept into office, has surrendered her star to the village council because "a drunken man or some one acting in a disrespectful manner, would just laugh at me and I was helpless." Mrs. Ward's colleagues opposed her resignation, fearing failure of the feminine regime might be inferred. Her husband favored it. Daniel Olson, the new marshal, is a section hand. He announced an order of strict law enforcement.

Woman Marshal Resigns Her Job

Ingram More a Painter Than Director of "Zenda" Film

RAMON SAMANIGAO, now called Ramon Navarro, juvenile lead in "The Prisoner of Zenda."

ALICE TERRY, heroine of "The Prisoner of Zenda" and wife of the director, Rex Ingram.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—When Rex Ingram produced "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" he was considered by the public and by himself as a motion picture director.

That film was of such artistic merit that a leading college conferred an honorary degree of art on him. That may have some bearing on the manner in which he has transposed "The Prisoner of Zenda" to the screen.

In this new film the drama of the story has been submerged by pictorial elaboration. It is a beautiful film. Many scenes are so composed that they appear like old masters or delicate tapestries. Lighting effects make the characters appear life-like.

However, Anthony Hope's novel from which the picture story was taken dealt with the force of destiny that put within one man's hands the power to usurp the throne of another and have for his queen a regal maiden with whom he had fallen in love.

The man's sense of honor made him forgo the throne. The girl's sense of honor, her responsibility to the people of her sovereignty, compelled her to refuse to leave with the man she loved.

Brother plotting the death of brother, the plot exposed by a woman scorned and other incidents of equal dramatic burden led up to the climax of the story.

With this material to work with it was to be expected that Ingram would achieve a picture of intense dramatic appeal.

However, the stressing of the pictorial element has robbed the film of enduring impression. The pretty pictures detract from the story.

Unlike "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" this film will be forgotten shortly after the spectator leaves the theatre.

Chief interest in "The Prisoner of Zenda," aside from the story itself, goes to the introduction of Ramon Samanigao as a screen actor. Ingram has proclaimed him another Valentino. Samanigao's features are more regular than those of Valentino. He is a bit more sleek, more polished. Indeed, he is almost oily.

One imagines he has a sweet palm. He may be high and far in the movies, thanks to the adoration of the flapper contingent, but Samanigao will never be another Valentino.

Valentino's success lies in his personality. It has a definite reaction on the film spectator. One is either very much for him or very much against him. One is always interested in him. As long as he acts without restraint, Valentino will be an outstanding figure of the films.

Samanigao has taken the film name of Ramon Navarro. Stories on his ancestry are now due if he is to become a star. The better the story, the quicker a star. That seems to be the belief that lifts ordinary mortals to the heights of film stardom.

Alvin Dwan, who has just completed direction of "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," has been engaged to direct Valentino in "The Spanish Cavalier."

The script will be written by June Mathis, who prepared "The Four Horsemen" and "Blood and Sand" for the screen.

The new film is an adaptation of "Don Cesar de Bazan" Nita Naldi, who has made one of the biggest hits of the season as Dona Sol in "Blood and Sand," will have the leading feminine role.

Walter Hiers, the fat comedian, proposed and was accepted by telegraph. He hopped a train for Syracuse, N. Y., to put an engagement ring on the finger of Miss Adah McWilliams, daughter of a shoe manufacturer.

Then he hopped to New York to buy the wedding ring.

Then he hopped a train back to Hollywood. Who'd a thought that Walter would hop as fast as that?

English authorities have lifted the ban against Ann Forest, American actress, appearing in "If Winter Comes," being produced in England.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND THEATRE

"Come On Over," a New Golden Special, First Three Days of the Week—Sunday Concert Includes Vaudeville.

The promised policy of "Bigger and better pictures" for the patrons of The Strand by Manager Samuel Torgan is beginning to reflect itself in no uncertain way these days. A glance over the semi-weekly programs announced during the recent past, and a glimpse at the bookings for the immediate future indicates more forcibly than words can express that the management is realizing the assurance given a short time ago that their patrons hereabouts would have the opportunity of enjoying the very best that the screen world has to offer. Just watch the newspaper announcements and judge for yourself. It will be worth while to follow, closely, the offerings scheduled for presentation at The Strand in the early fall and winter months.

For next week beginning on Monday afternoon and continuing Tuesday and Wednesday, "Come On Over," a new Golden Special, with Colleen Moore starring, will be shown. This is a Rupert Hughes production and it is said to be among his best efforts. It is a companion piece to "Scratch My Back," and its characters are as human and companionable as those in the other masterpiece, "The Old Nest." Its comedy is wholesome and persuasive and infectious and through its course flows a vein of Irish wit that only Mr.

ANOTHER JOB FOR THE "MAJOR"

Hughes has been able to bring to the screen in all its delightfulness. Its story is simple, but has the freshness and brightness of a sunrise over one of Ireland's greenest hills. The story starts in Ireland but soon jumps to New York and deals with the romance of Shane, who leaves his sweetheart, Moyna, behind when he seeks his fortune in the new world. When they meet in New York, after three years, the love affair runs anything but smoothly until a dancing contest is staged. The dancing music gets into their blood and their feet lead them together in a dance and once in each other's arms, everything is straightened out. Florence Drew, J. Warren, Kathleen O'Connor, Monte Collins, J. Farrell Macdonald, James Marcus and others are seen in the supporting cast.

Hoot Gibson in "Step On It" is to be the other first-of-the-week offering. The mere mention of Gibson's name means enjoyable action and thrills, and "Step On It" is no exception to the rule. Mystery, romance, typically western action and a punch of a plot from the pen of Courtney Ryley Cooper combine in making this pictureization just what it is—a genuine white-hot offering. The locale is laid in "The Land of the Lost," a section of unmapped territory in the state of Colorado, a paradise for horse and cattle thieves. We will tell no more of the story except to give the assurance that it's the kind that gets you.

A Jimmy Aubrey comedy "The Chicken Parade" will be an added feature, and the Weekly and musical numbers will help round out a 100 per cent program.

For the last three days of the week the feature picture will be "The Man With Two Mothers," in which Mary Allen, who played the mother in "The Old Nest," Cullen Landis and Sylvia Breamer will be featured. It's an Irish-American story by Alice Duer Miller, one of America's gayest and happiest story-tellers. Mary Allen as the real mother (and Irish at that) of Dennis O'Neill (Cullen Landis) gives another interpretation of motherhood as sharply etched in its way, as her mother character in "The Old Nest." Sylvia Breamer gives a sympathetic performance as Dennis' sweetheart. The others of the cast are also capable and superior-grade actors and actresses.

Viola Dana in the role of nation's orphan promises to make many new friends and admirers in her newest comedy drama "Reeling Is Believing," which will be shown during the week-end. Miss Dana, as Diana Webster, and her aunt's aunt, are obliged to pose as married when on their way back to the city they are forced to put up at a small hotel. The promising situation is observed by a young man, a friend of the family and when he promises to safeguard her secret, she endeavors to involve him in an equally compromising position. How her efforts lead her to the brink of bitter and serious disappointment and finally to success, is best told by the picture itself. See it. Don't forget that it's always cool and comfortable at The Strand. You never find it uncomfortably warm at this playhouse.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Thomas Meighan and Marion Davies in Latest Vehicles Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Manager Nelson has arranged two big features of more than ordinary interest for the first parts of the week at the Merrimack Square theatre. Lowell's cool and comfortable amusement house. The leading attractions will be "If You Believe It, It's So," starring Thomas Meighan, and "The Young Diana," with Marion Davies.

For Sunday there will be the usual excellent program of up-to-the-minute features.

Thomas Meighan in a new Paramount picture always is a matter of importance to movie lovers. Meighan is one of the most popular stars of the screen and his recent appearances have increased his popularity immensely. The story of "If You Believe It, It's So," is a most gripping one. Chick Harris, a crook, robs Ezra Woolf, an aged counterpane, but on hearing his victim's story of how he and his wife had worked for years to pay off the mortgage on their home, repents and restores their money. He determines to reform and becomes a real estate agent.

He meets Alvin Morley at whose house he lodges and falls in love with her. Sky Blue, a counterfeiter, appears in the guise of a ministerial reformer and raises a large sum of money to which Alvin has contributed all he owns. This money is to go presumably toward the erection of an orphanage. Chick is named treasurer of the fund and frustrates Sky Blue's design to decamp with the money. Sky Blue tells Chick's friends that the latter has fallen for a lot of religious bunk, and you believe it, it's so. Chick tells the story of his past to Alvin and the result is a happy ending to a most interesting story. Mr. Meighan is supported by a capable cast.

The story of "The Young Diana," the latest feature for the first half of the week, deals with a young woman whose parvenu father seeks to marry her into the British nobility. She loves Richard Cleave, a sailor, and Dr. Dinitz, a scientist, falls in love with her. By a strange combination of circumstances Diana comes to believe that her sweetheart has been false to her by eloping with Lady Anne, and she swears. Twenty years later she is seen as a stunner, and her life embittered she goes to Switzerland in answer to an advertisement calling for a woman who is willing to risk her life for the sake of science. In the advertiser Diana recognizes Dinitz. He restores her youth and beauty, and she becomes the rage of Europe.

Diana meets Cleave, who is married, and wishes to desert his wife for her, but she spurns him. Dinitz, too, wishes to marry her. Diana falls into a faint. Then she awakes, learns she has been dreaming and is still young and lovely without the need of rejuvenation. All is explained, and the picture fades out with the wedding of Diana and Cleave.

A comedy, starring Johnny Hines, and the latest International News will complete the bill. For Thursday, Friday and Saturday the features will be "Penrod," with "Freckles" Barry and Constance Talmadge in "Wedding Bells."

Movies To Show Life of Lincoln on Anniversary

CONNIE TALMADGE "TURPIN WEST" AND THE BEAUTY HED HERS REPOSE FROM HOLLYWOOD SA CROSSED OFFICES.

By JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The life of Abraham Lincoln will be told in motion pictures on the 80th anniversary of his birth, according to plans of a company now making a 16-reel production based on his life.

The producers have offered a print of the reel to the government and to the National Lincoln Memorial association with the idea that the film will be preserved in a vault until February 12, 2100.

The shame of it is that the real face of Lincoln will not be seen in the picture. However, a pictured story produced now will be more faithful to detail than any that could be produced 200 years from now.

A more satisfactory film to hand down to posterity would be one depicting the life story of Roosevelt, Wilson, Edison, Ford, Bell, Burbank or Fairbanks that would show actual reproduction of those men in life-like motion.

BUSY AFTERNOON FOR THE FIREMEN

Four alarms kept the fire department on the jump yesterday afternoon and evening. Each of the fires was of a minor nature and small damage was done.

A telephone alarm at 1:02 o'clock called a portion of the department to the Stackpole street dump where a slight blaze was quickly extinguished.

At 5:45 o'clock another telephone alarm summoned the firemen to the City Laundry Co. in Flushing Street.

A small fire on the roof was the cause. At 6:35 o'clock a pile of rubbish in the rear of 219 Middlesex street occasioned a telephone signal, but the damage was of a minor character.

At 9:48 a grass and rubbish pile called the firemen to Courtland street.

en at the annual Elks outing at Martin Luther grounds in Tenenboro on Thursday last, will be celebrated exclusively at The Strand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the coming week. These pictures were taken far from showing at The Strand, and they promise to give an intimate and most entertaining series of glimpses and views of this annual event that brings so much joy and entertainment to the large number of Elks and their friends. The parade was first taken, and then the camera man went to the grounds and "picked up" scenes in all parts of the grounds. Some of them were arranged and others were quite impromptu. The winners of the various sporting events were snapped as they struggled over the tape, and several hundred feet of film was taken of the baseball game and the celebrities in attendance.

ductions of those men in life-like motion. The Lincoln film only points to the possibilities of giving posterity biographies of the world's geniuses in the most graphic form.

The comic talent of Constance Talmadge will not be entirely submerged in the film version of "East Is West," a play that stressed the dramatic rather than the comic phase.

In the photoplay Constance in the role of Ming, who is to be sold to the highest bidder aboard the "love boat." Wealthy mandarins vie in their efforts to obtain the beautiful.

Ming Turpin, anxious to be rejected, escapes by being cross-eyed. A cross-eyed Oriental is far from fetching. When Constance crosses her eyes she is homely as Ben Turpin.

Gilly Hovey will appear without make-up in future Semmelt comedies. That means he's going to discard his soap-straining mustache.

If anyone can show where such overhanging mustaches and comedy to a character he or she is entitled to the bronze turkey feather.

A statement from the Paramount studios is offered in proof that play-lets are not representative of the chief item of expense in producing pictures.

Figures are submitted from the daily expense account of "Mandalaugh." The day taken as example was one on which Cecil DeMille filmed Roman bacchanal scenes.

On that day the salaries of Thomas Meighan, Leslie Jay, Lila Wilson, John Milner and Casson Ferguson amounted to less than one-third of the day's total expense.

MANN DENIES GETTING LETTER

Contradicts Statement Made by "Shufflin' Phil" Douglas, Exiled Player

Latter Declared He Wrote to St. Louis Player, Offering to "Throw Down" Giants

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—(By the Associated Press.) Leslie Mann, outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, early today denied a new angle to the case of "Shufflin' Phil" Douglas, exiled player of the New York Yankees, who was barred from organized baseball for writing a letter to a player of a contending club to effect the desert of the club and thus hinder their chances for winning the pennant, when he had been offered a contract by the St. Louis Cardinals.

CENTRALVILLES LEAGUE

Dixwells Defeat Beacons 14 to 10 on Centralville Twilight League Grounds

After six innings of hectic baseball the Dixwells defeated the Beacons 14 to 10 on the Centralville Twilight League grounds last night. The features of the game were provided by Martel of the Dixwells, who smote a sweet four-bagger with men on base. Gannett of the Beacons, who pulled a brilliant double in the eighth, and McMahon, the left gardener on the Dixwells, who started in the field with a very good catch of a ball called in the sixth on account of darkness.

The Dixwells went to bat in the opening frame and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, it was found that they had a lead of three runs. McMahon, who pulled a brilliant double in the eighth, and McMahon, the left gardener on the Dixwells, who started in the field with a very good catch of a ball called in the sixth on account of darkness.

Things looked rosy for the Dixwells in their half of the second, as McMahon pulled off a double in the first, and McMahon, the left gardener on the Dixwells, who started in the field with a very good catch of a ball called in the sixth on account of darkness.

CENTRALVILLES TRIM MILLMEN AND MOVE INTO TIE FOR FIRST PLACE

Heavy Bunting by Wrecking Crew, and Good Pitching by Garrity in Pinches Bring 7 to 3 Victory to Foye's Team—Peterson Nicked for 11 Hits

TWILIGHT LEAGUE STANDING

Massachusetts	4	11	26.7

The ultimate winner of the twilight league will remain a matter of conjecture as the result of Centralvilles' 7 to 3 win over the Mass. Hills team on Saturday night.

The victory again places the boys from Jersey on an even basis with the Highland Daylights in the see-saw but interesting struggle for the coveted pennant. The game was somewhat prolonged by "Hank's" Garrity's tendency to wildness. The Centralvilles hauled around to start ten too high and walked five men and hit two others. Only two clean hits were made off his delivery, however, one of them a smash home run by Riley.

Cluten at short for the mill men contributed a spectacular step in the second round, intercepting a hard hit ball off Wally Foye's stick and passing it to Riley at first base. Riley, in a difficult angle, Peterson was conspicuously off form and was touched at Riley's throw by the centralvilles' extra base description telling a sad and woeful tale. In the third, ten of the wrecking boys were in the crowd, but this feat was relegated to the background by the timely bling of the Foye contingent.

Goose again opened up the program for both sides, but Centralville and Mass. scored twice and thrice respectively. The second, this time a smash home run by Riley, began with Wally Foye's hit to begin with. Wally was robbed of a hit by Cluten's interference with his sure-handed catch of the ball. Foye connected for a single between first and second, and McVey followed suit with a ball to the same area, sending the wrecking boys into a frenzy. Foye, in right, got in wrong by attempting to catch the Foye a third time, but this feat was relegated to the background by the timely bling of the Foye contingent.

YANKS AGAIN TIED FOR LEAD

Big Babe's Bat Plays Leading Part in Victory Over White Sox

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Babe Ruth, indulged in his favorite pastime just for a spell against the White Sox at the Polo grounds, which tells the story of the Yankees' 8 to 7 win over Chicago in two innings.

Ruth, who pulled a brilliant double in the eighth, and McMahon, the left gardener on the Dixwells, who started in the field with a very good catch of a ball called in the sixth on account of darkness.

The Dixwells went to bat in the opening frame and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, it was found that they had a lead of three runs. McMahon, who pulled a brilliant double in the eighth, and McMahon, the left gardener on the Dixwells, who started in the field with a very good catch of a ball called in the sixth on account of darkness.

Things looked rosy for the Dixwells in their half of the second, as McMahon pulled off a double in the first, and McMahon, the left gardener on the Dixwells, who started in the field with a very good catch of a ball called in the sixth on account of darkness.

In the third the Dixwells scored two runs on two hits and three errors by the Beacons. McMahon, who pulled a brilliant double in the eighth, and McMahon, the left gardener on the Dixwells, who started in the field with a very good catch of a ball called in the sixth on account of darkness.

The Dixwells scored another run in the fourth when McMahon pulled off a double in the first, and McMahon, the left gardener on the Dixwells, who started in the field with a very good catch of a ball called in the sixth on account of darkness.

TOM O'ROURKE RESIGNS HOLLOCHER IN BATTLING STRIDE

Quits as New York Boxing Commissioner—Pays Tribute to Betty Muldoon

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Tom O'Rourke, deputy boxing commissioner of New York, yesterday handed his resignation to Chairman William Muldoon, to take effect Sept. 1. O'Rourke said in explanation of his action:

"I have put in the most strenuous year of my life settling the differences between managers, promoters and boxers. I thought I knew the ins and outs of the business, but I have found that state athletic commission to be a most intricate and difficult one to run."

HOLLOCHER IN BATTLING STRIDE

Cubs' Shortstop Plays Big Part in Putting Team in Race for Pennant

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Charles Hollocher, captain of the Chicago Cubs, has struck a batting stride which has swung his teammates in line with the hustling little shortstop, and as a result the club picked up a majority of experts to finish far down in the second division, is up in third place and battling with the White Sox for the pennant.

INTEREST IN PUGILISTIC BOUTS IS WANING

Such a drop in interest is particularly obvious that there must be a tremendously increased interest in boxing this fall if the figures of a year ago are to be even approximately approached. What is the cause of this tremendous slump? Three reasons are given. First it is said by some observers that the fans no longer have the necessary knowledge to get them to the fights. Boxing men promoters say that he boxes charge too much for exhibitions.

Second, it is said that the high prices charged by promoters have driven many away from attending the bouts. The same analysis is made of the shrinking business in other amusement fields, especially in the motion picture business. Prices must come down, experts say, if large attendance is desired. A third reason given for the lack of interest in boxing is the growing interest in other forms of sport, especially in motor paced bicycle riding. The promoters of this sport are giving great shows and are charging $50 cents, with tax included for the seat, for the race. Chapman, Corry, Carman, Wiley, Miguel and Linart are racing on Massachusetts tracks to the delight of thousands of fans who flock to the great track at Revere and similar tracks at New Bedford, Providence and Worcester. With an average of 10,000 persons going to the Revere races alone, it is obvious that this sport, which has apparently taken a wonderful new lease of life, is cutting into the "gate" of the boxing bouts.

Radio

Same Radio Signal, Crossing the Globe, Travels Both East and West

BY PAUL F. GODLEY
America's Foremost Radio Authority
What happens at a receiving station at the opposite side of the globe? Do the messages come from the east or the west?
Radio circles have been speculating about this problem of reception at the antipodes of a transmitting station for many years. Now comes H. H. Beverage, an American engineer, from extended research in southern Brazil and tells us what happens.
During his experimenting, Beverage found it possible to make observations on many signals from a U. S. government station in Hawaii. He could receive them either from the west across the Pacific and the continent of South America, or from the east across the western Pacific, Africa and the Atlantic.
The French government sent out an expedition last year to get observations on this subject. An Englishman in his travels across the Pacific endeavored to carry on similar experiments. As far as known at present, the observations of Beverage made about two weeks before those of Tremblay, the Britisher.
In Theory
Theoretically, when the receiving station is at a point on the earth's surface exactly opposite the transmitting station, the waves coming from both directions around the earth should reinforce each other. Having traveled this same distance, they should still be in step in phase.
As a matter of fact, due to varying meteorological and daylight conditions existing over the two paths, and due to the variation in absorption which may take place over the land, even at the antipodes, waves from both ways could scarcely be expected to arrive exactly on time to the ten-thousandth part of a second.

In Beverage's observations, signals from Hawaii received from the west were stronger during one part of the day. Those from the east were stronger at another time. Only for short times were they equal in strength.
Interference
At these times, if both were received simultaneously, an interference took place between them. First their energies would add. A fraction of a second later they would be neutralizing each other. The result was an undecipherable series of signals.
Had it been possible to move the station a few hundred miles further east this effect would have been absent, and the energies from both ways around would actually have fully reinforced each other during certain periods in the day.
Another very interesting phenomenon which Beverage relates is that signals received from two stations quite near each other in Germany chose entirely different paths in reaching southern Brazil. The signal from the station at Nauen came in from over the South Pole, while that from Wilhelmschtrasse came from the North Pole. It is difficult to account for this phenomenon, though several theories have been offered.

Radio Beach Dancing Popular

Radio has been developed to such an improved state that a set can be brought to the beach and other similar places without trouble. It has made beach dancing popular. No aerial or ground connection is necessary with the radio set shown. It can be moved about while it is receiving music for the dancers.

SALVATION ARMY
BAND CONCERT
Lowell music lovers were treated to a band concert given by the New England Provincial Staff band of the Salvation Army on the steps of city hall last night.
The program varied from the old familiar southern melodies to the stirring marches written by the master hand, Souza. Last night the audience heard The Star Spangled Banner played as they have seldom heard it played before. The players seemed to give this familiar and stirring number additional emphasis.
The band which includes 50 instruments is on its way to the annual Army encampment at Old Orchard and giving concerts at various cities on its itinerary. Another band of 60 pieces, composed entirely of women, has taken another direction to Maine and is giving a similar concert in cities en route.
Adjutant Argent, who is in charge of the local branch of the army, arranged for this concert as he knew the worth of this organization.
There are at least 1,250,000 square miles of coal fields in the world.

SUCCEEDS WHERE DOCTORS FAIL

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Often Does That.—Read Mrs. Miner's Testimony

Churubusco, N. Y.—"I was under the doctor's care for over five years for backache and had no relief from his medicine. One day a neighbor told me about your Vegetable Compound and I took it. It helped me so much that I wish to advise all women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and backache. It is a great help in carrying a child, as I have noticed a difference when I didn't take it. I thank you for this medicine and if I ever come to this point again I do not want to be without the Vegetable Compound. I give you permission to publish this letter so that all women can take my advice."—Mrs. FRED MINER, Box 102, Churubusco, N. Y.
It's the same story over again. Women suffer from ailments for years. They try doctors and different medicines but feel no better. Finally they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you can see its value in the case of Mrs. Miner.
That's the truth of the matter. If you are suffering from any of the troubles women have, you ought to try this medicine. It can be taken in safety by young or old, as it contains no harmful drugs.

Underground Antenna Replacing Outdoor Receiving Aerial

The day of the aerial antenna for receiving is gone.
This is the conclusion of radio engineers who have been conducting experiments for the postoffice department to attempt to eliminate static interference in receiving. The experiments have been in charge of James E. Edgerton, superintendent of the radio section.
Instead of the aerial antenna, however, Edgerton has found three different methods of receiving that brought good results. These are:
1. Large vertical outside multiple turn loops.
2. Underground horizontal buried loops.
3. Underground antennae.

The postoffice department statement explaining the use of these forms of receiving antennas, says:
"The best results are obtained with the underground antenna when it can be laid in damp soil with a straight buried loop is more or less of a new departure and has been very successful when well insulated and buried in water or very damp earth."
Even while lightning was striking, the report adds, communication was carried on with the use of the underground antenna.

Famous Veteran Oarsman Dead

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Jeremiah J. Casey, famous veteran oarsman, who coached the Harvard crews in '84, '85 and '86, died here last night following a heart attack. He was 63 years old. Casey defeated the best oarsmen in the country 30 years ago. He was the conqueror of Danbury of Boston, the older Ten Eyck and the great Joyce, of Springfield. Casey won further laurels as a member of the noted four-oared New England crew that kept a clean slate for three years. He also established a seven-year consecutive record for winning the city of Boston championship in the Fourth of July races.

Safe Dynamited—$100 and Bonds Taken

MARLBHEAD, Aug. 19.—A safe in the plant of the Witch City Bottling Works on Marblehead road, just outside Salem, was blown during the night and $100 in cash and several Liberty bonds owned by employees of the firm were stolen, it was learned this morning when workers appeared at the plant. The safe was blown to pieces after it had been wrapped with thick blankets. The windows and doors were also covered. Over one window an American flag was hung to dull the sound of detonation.

International Cup Races Oct. 15

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 19.—Trustees of the Halifax Herald trophy, emblematic of the International fishing schooner championship of the North Atlantic, said today that the international races would probably be held about October 15, off Gloucester. The Nova Scotia races will be held early in October. J. J. Kinley, of Lunenburg, and F. W. Baldwin, of Baddeck, were chosen to represent Nova Scotia at the international event.

Await Decision on Women Smoking

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Women here were waiting with interest today for the decision of Police Commissioner Enright as to whether a policeman can stop a woman from smoking a cigaret on the street. The question arose after Policeman Kilyon rapped the knuckles of Mrs. May Sladen after she refused to discard a cigaret. She was smoking while standing with her husband and chatting with friends on Broadway. She and other women in a motorcycle party wore knickers. Edward H. Sladen protested to the policeman that he had given his wife the cigaret and that there was no law to prevent her smoking where and when she wished. He made a complaint against Kilyon and the matter was passed to Commissioner Enright for decision.

Government to Man Pumps at Mines

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 19.—E. H. Armstrong, minister of war and public works in the Nova Scotia government, announced today that the provincial government had decided to man the pumps at the Nova Scotia mines threatened with flooding. The men will work under the protection of special provincial police, who will have power to call in the aid of the militia. One thousand men have been advertised for to engage in police duty. Mr. Armstrong said the government was taking these steps in order to protect public property.

Quarter Century Ago

From the Old Sun:
The firemen who responded to the alarm from Box 225 at 12:30 this morning, by their prompt work prevented a conflagration, saving a large amount of valuable tenement property. The alarm was occasioned by a brick blaze in the carriage shed of the stable of Mrs. John Courtney in the rear of her residence, 24 Lagrange street.
The fire had received quite a start before it was discovered and upon the arrival of the firemen was burning briskly. Hose 8 was on the scene in a short time and its members quickly put on a line of hose. The fire spread through the stable on one side and to the tenement house owned by Mrs. Courtney and occupied by the family of Patrick Rabbitt on the other.

Democratic City Committee
It looked like old times again to watch the old familiar faces of the politicians as one by one they entered old Jackson hall to attend the special meeting of the Democratic city committee.

Harry Osgood and Crawford Bassett, two well known Lowell boys, and pupils of a high school in this city, are reported to have met with a serious accident near Augusta, Me.

On last Saturday, they left town for a bicycle trip, their destination being Machias, Me. Both are good riders and anticipated a good time on their trip.
Yesterday morning they were found lying in an unconscious condition on the road near Windsor, Me., by Mark D. Grant of that place.
He took them up and a physician was summoned. The latter reported Bassett's fall from his wheel had caused concussion of the brain. Young Osgood was not seriously injured.

The particulars of the accident are vague as yet. The boys will probably be brought to this city and it is hoped that they will soon be all right.
Broke World's Record
Bernard J. Wetters yesterday broke the world's record at the oval in Worcester, in the 126 yard dash, at the athletic meeting of the Memorial Hospital Athletic association.

He made the distance in 112.6 seconds, cutting off two-fifths of a second from the record which he had already equalled and held in common with Bailey, the English crack sprinter, and two others.
Mr. O'Donnell Honored
James F. O'Donnell, the well known undertaker, was tendered a complimentary banquet at the American house last night, in honor of his return from a pleasant European trip.
After the menu had been discussed, John E. Drury was introduced as toastmaster and made a happy speech in which he said many kind things of Mr. O'Donnell and expressed the pleasure of the company on his safe return.
Mr. O'Donnell responded and gave a brief and interesting account of his trip abroad.
G. A. B. Encampment
Early this morning, when the operatives of the big mills were making their way to work, the G. A. B. were on the march to the Northern depot to take the train to Buffalo, where the annual encampment will be held. The delegation includes the following:

Baker, J. R. Smith, Charles Kitchen, Joseph Denio, From Post 42 the only committee now being going is D. E. Worthington, Past Commander W. H. L. Hayes is undesignated.
Foresters' Convention
The Lowell delegation to the supreme convention of Foresters, to be held in Denver, Co., Aug. 21-28, left this city at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Boston.

The party were Supreme Ranger L. J. Smith, Supreme Secretary E. M. McIntire, William A. Hogan, Esq., Court Warden; James F. Miskell, Court Clerk; Charles T. Fish, Esq., Court Marshal; John P. Hayes, Court City of Lowell; John McPadden, Court Merrimack; Michael McMillin, Court Greenfield; and Edward E. Slattery, Court City of Lowell, who will act instead of Councilman John of Fall River, the regularly elected delegate. The party reached Boston at 4 o'clock and took dinner at the Quincy House. They met the other Massachusetts delegates there and after a social hour took carriages for the Boston & Albany depot.

Appointed to Pastorate
Rev. B. J. Gleason, first assistant pastor and acting pastor of St. Patrick's church, has been appointed to a pastorate by Archbishop Williams. Rev. James J. Keegan, former pastor of St. Mary's church, Randolph, has been transferred to St. Patrick's church. Mr. Gleason, during his eight years' stay here, has made friends of every one who enjoyed his acquaintanceship, and has been an earnest worker for St. Patrick's church.

Attacked by Dog
Miss Annie Sullivan, a resident of Lowell, was attacked by a large St. Bernard dog in the church yesterday (Friday). The dog was bitten on the leg and her legs and arms were badly scratched by the animal.
The dog appeared to be infuriated, and but for the presence of mind of several ladies, the attack might have been a very serious one.

RALLY BY WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB
Senator Lodge, Governor Cox and many others of note, will be guests at what will probably be the largest rally in the state this year, the reception and rally of the Women's Republican club at Salem Willows next Wednesday. President Harding himself, if he can spare the necessary time, will appear in person, and listen to the addresses of Mrs. C. H. Mansury will preside at this rally, and it is expected that the women of Essex county will have a wonderful reception planned for the honored guests when they arrive. Music will be furnished by the Salem band, and after the meeting an opportunity will be afforded one and all to meet the visitors.
The rally proper is scheduled to open at 3 p. m., and it is expected that Congressman A. Platt Andrews and Hon. Frederick C. Butler of Lawrence will address the meeting. The attendance is expected to approach the 20,000 mark. The place is easily reached either by auto or trolley, and as a special display of fireworks has been arranged for, including daylight fireworks at 8 p. m., and spectacular music will be given at 9:30 p. m., the day should be particularly enjoyable for all who attend.

SECRETARY OF LABOR HITS HARD IN "THE IRON PUDDLER"

Davis Slams Anarchy, Communism and the Lady of No Pie Making Fame—Report Has it That National Woman's Party Has No Use
For Men Except in Menial Capacities

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—In his biography, written under the title of "The Iron Puddler," Secretary of Labor Davis deals sound blows against anarchy, communism and the idle poor. In addition he gives a knockout blow to the lady of no pie making fame. Probably the lady featuring recently before the Massachusetts Agricultural Association on domestic science had not read "The Iron Puddler" when she urged the abandonment of pie-making by the women of today, adding "most husbands will eat what is placed before them." Cut out pie, was her slogan. But, as a poor boy, the son of Welsh immigrants, Davis began his career as a worker in an iron mill. It was a rough life. Davis first boarded at The Bunker of Blood, next at The Greasy Spoon, and then moved up in the social gastronomic scale till he landed in The Pie Boarding House. Commenting on the latter, Mr. Davis says the no-pie lady's argument faltered by saying: "The Pie boarding house represented prosperity for the women who run it. Now the pie is missing out and we are feeding on French pastry. Is our downfall at hand?" A joint debate between Secretary of Labor Davis and Mrs. Clark of Montague, Mass., now famous throughout the country as the no-pie lady, would draw a crowd. "The English is often referred to as 'The Pie Belt,'" but Mr. Davis was referring to Pennsylvania, in his tribute. Is it possible that New England's pie championship is in danger? Or to quote his own words, "Is our downfall at hand?"

Davis sizes up anarchy as a yellow streak in men who don't want to make, but demand the benefits of the work done by others. If they don't get it, they take revenge by destruction. He compares them to rats, which do not build houses themselves, but steal and destroy the work of others. "The beaver," says Davis, "builds houses and stores up food. When the beaver is gone, the house is empty. It is the rat type of man who is now trying to destroy it."

Referring to the hardships of his immigrant days of great poverty Davis gives a dig at "reformers" who frette discontent. He tells how the labor type of men who built up America. It is the rat type of man who is now trying to destroy it.

Davis waxes wroth over the discontent roused today by men who make it a profession to stir up strife. He tells how the labor type of men who built up America. It is the rat type of man who is now trying to destroy it.

He began very young as "boy" to an iron puddler, working long hours in the grime and heat of the great furnaces. From that he worked his own way to wealth and influence. And this biography, written in a light vein that will catch the attention of men in all walks of life, makes it clear Davis believes there is no natural or necessary feud between capital and labor. He attributes it to envy and jealousy of "the yellow streak in men of the rat type."

No Use for Men
Word is said to have gone forth from the Watch Tower, as the headquarters of the national woman's party is called, to the effect that no men shall be employed by them, "except in menial capacities." The Watch Tower is a great grey building within a stone's throw of the capitol and overlooking the capitol grounds. It was so named by the woman party leaders, as from its windows they intend to keep close tabs on the votes and speeches of every member of congress, in order to know how to treat his campaign should he come up for re-election. The woman's party, however, is not expounding the cause of all the women candidates for high federal offices, and are bitterly opposed to such candidates as were ranked amongst anti-suffragists in the old days. It is that party which is advocating the adoption of still another constitutional amendment under which a married woman with her maiden name, separate domicile and the children of a family would bear the hyphenated name of father and mother.

The Fall of Overman

Watching Senator Overman of North Carolina walk into the senate chamber a few days ago, we of the press gallery were reminded of an incident that happened when Senator Stone of Missouri, better known as "Gum Shoe Bill," occupied a seat next to that of North Carolina's distinguished senator. It was then that Mr. Overman, one of the best mannered and best balanced members of the dignified senate took a tumble that broke down all rules of "No laughter or applause in the galleries." Senator Overman is the gentleman whose calm and impressive entrance into the senate chamber has been compared to "the ceremony and dignity of docking an ocean liner or warship." It happened at the moment when Senator Stone of Missouri was talking earnestly to Senator Reed of the same state, somewhat blocking the passage between seats as he did so. He saw, out of the corner of his eye, a shadow approaching and thinking the shadow wanted the right of way, hastily pulled away the chair placed at the desk of Senator Overman. Now, Senator Overman is a man of more than 200 pounds whose heavy shock of iron gray hair, tall imposing figure, fine face and great dignity of bearing made him one of the most distinguished looking men in the congress. The approaching shadow seen by Mr. Stone was nothing less than the very substantial reality of Mr. Overman, who desired, not to pass by, but to take his seat. This he attempted to do at a very inauspicious moment, pulled the chair away. Senator Overman sat down on the floor with a resounding thud, and no attempt to do the "after you." All phone not. Assistance, apologies and explanations followed. The galleries laughed unreprieved by the vice president and Senator Overman was found to be alone only in his feelings. But it was a long time before Senator "Bill" Stone recovered from the embarrassment he had caused North Carolina's most distinguished representative.

Marriage a la Mode

The Finnish bride can always be sure of spending money at least for a short time after her marriage, for it is the custom for each man present at her wedding to give the bride a piece of silver.

This is presented after the wedding feast. Each guest throws his coin into a plate in front of the bride. Any bachelors who break the plate pay the forfeit of another coin.

COME ON, IT'S YOUR TURN NOW!

$50,000 Loss in Second Fire in Two Days

CAMBRIDGE, Aug. 19.—The manufacturing district in East Cambridge was threatened early today when fire broke out in the plant of the Cambridge Auto Body and Wagon company. A general alarm brought all the fire apparatus of the city. Firemen were forced to fight the flames from the roofs of nearby houses and buildings. The estimated damage was placed at approximately $50,000. Fifty horses in a stable in the rear of the factory were rescued. The origin of the fire, the second large blaze in two successive days here, has not been determined.

Stage Season's Opening Gun Was Loaded with Blanks

BY JOHN O'DONNELL.
NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—What is frequently referred to as the opening gun of the new dramatic season has just been fired.
The 1922-1923 gun proved to be a double-barrelled affair with a blank cartridge in each chamber.
The new plays were "Whispering Wires," a melodrama of mystery and suspense made over from a Saturday Evening Post story, and David Belasco's new vehicle for Frances Starr, "Shore Leave." The Belasco contribution to the opening bombardment was a heavy charge of sobs, syrup and sweetness.

"Shore Leave" is the story of a New

Osborne. His contribution to the evening's entertainment was the smallest.
The play was weak but the acting was excellent throughout and at times became splendid—particularly in the case of James Rennie who played Blige Smith, U.S.N., the unwilling ally of Miss Starr's persistent Penelope.

The comedy was beautifully staged and tricked out with the typical ingenious business which shows the hand of Belasco. In the first act, the best written of the three, the heating of the distant surf was the best I have ever heard.

But after this opening act, which laid the foundation for a real play, the author's ears were deaf to the realism of the ocean. Acts two and three had so much of the Atlantic. They were sticky from contact with the Gun Stream.

"The Bat" has now completed a two-year run on Broadway and leaves for Boston, just one year behind schedule. When "Whispering Wires" opened several of the local reviewers immediately peeped forth with the announcement that the new play was "a successor to 'The Bat' and, as the most delicious shout, was a 'far better play than 'The Bat' or 'The Cat and the Canary.'"

All of which is rot. "Whispering Wires" is mildly diverting. It isn't in the class with either of the big mystery successes because the solution pivots on a mechanical trick.

But there are excellent shows running. We recommend "Ho Who Gets Slapped," "The Follies," "Muscle Box Revue," "Blossom Time," "Captain Applejack," "Kick," "Kempy" and "Cool Morning, Dearie."

The worst play is "Able's Irish Rose." The dullest is the wearying "Pin Wheel Revel."

FRANCES STARR AS THE SEAGOING DRESSMAKER IN THE NEW BELASCO COMEDY, "SHORE LEAVE."

England dressmaker who wanted to marry a sailor.

In the first act she lures him with hot biscuits, jelly and coffee; in the second act, she offers him a ship with the berth of captain; in the third act, she finally wins.

All in all, it was one of those plays that are too sweet for anything or too sweet to be good for anything.

Sea-Going Comedy

The author of the play, which is billed as a sea-going comedy, is Herbert

THREE INJURED, CROWD IN PANIC AS TENT FALLS

HARWICK, Vt., Aug. 12.—Three persons were seriously injured and several hundred residents and summer visitors were thrown into panic last night, when a cloudburst caused a large chautauque entertainment tent to collapse, completely enveloping the audience and pinning it to the ground. Pandemonium reigned when the people, toppled from their chairs by the heavy canvas folds, scrambled on their hands and knees through the dirt and mud caused by the downpour, to the open air.

The most seriously injured were Miss Blanche Dow, who suffered a broken leg; Daniel Crowley, injury to the head, and Michael Sullivan, cuts and bruises.

The tent collapsed almost without warning. The lights were extinguished and men, women and children were forced to crawl into the open air and safety through the downpour which was illuminated only by the terrifying flashes of lightning.

The storm broke just as the first act of the performance started. The weight of water on the canvas, with the strain brought by the high wind which caused the center support of the tent to break, is given as the cause of the accident.

THREE HELD FOR PORTLAND FIRE

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 13.—Donald Gardner, 22 years old of Howard, Pa., Milton H. Hogan, 24 years old of Boston and Ralph Kemick, 18 years old of Winthrop, Me., are detained by the police here for further investigation concerning the $400,000 roundhouse fire of the Portland Terminal Co., last Sunday.

The men were taken into custody yesterday and are being held by order of Sheriff King Graham as suspicious persons.

Gardner and Hogan, according to the sheriff have been in and about Portland for two or three months, working at various places. He stated the men worked at the roundhouse, hiring out two or three days previous to the fire. After the blaze, they suddenly quit, he asserts.

The men have been carefully watched and were arrested when it was learned they intended to leave Portland.

A. BLANCHETTE & CO.

Here is a little advice to the newly-weds. If you are thinking of furnishing up your home now, see A. Blanchette & Co., at 462 Merrimack street. This company carries a fine stock of furniture at prices that are extremely low, and it matters not whether you have the ready cash, you can furnish your home by paying a small amount down and a reasonable amount every week.

Paris was a fortified town as early as 800 A. D.
